WYMAN, W. E. A., M.D.V., V.S.

Catechism of the Principles of Veterinary Surgery. Cloth, size 6 x 9, 321 pages.....3 50

Concerning this new work attention is called to the following points:

1.—It discusses the subject upon the basis of veterinary investigation.

2.—It does away with works on human pathology, histology, etc.

3.—It explains each question thoroughly, both from a scientific as well as a practical point of view.

4.—It is written by one knowing the needs of the student.

5.—It deals exhaustively with a chapter on tumors, heretofore utterly neglected in veterinary pathology.

6.—The only work in English specializing the subject.

7.—The only work thoroughly taking into consideration American as well as European investigations.

8.—Offering practical hints which have not appeared in print, the result of large city and country practice.

AMERICAN DIPLOMACY UNDER TYLER AND POLK.

BY JESSE S. REEVES.

335 pages. 12mo. Price, $1.50.

This volume discusses the Northeastern Boundary Controversy; the Ashburton Treaty; the Relations between Mexico and the United States, 1825-1843; the Annexation of Texas; the Northwestern Boundary Controversy; the Oregon Treaty; Polk's attempted Negotiation for California; the Outbreak of the Mexican War; the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo.

INTERNATIONAL LAW AND DIPLOMACY OF THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR.

BY ELBERT J. BENTON.

300 pages. 12mo. Price, $1.50.

Among the topics discussed are: Cuba and National Policy; American Neutrality, 1895-1897; Abandonment of Non-Intervention Policy; Intervention; Transition from Neutrality to Belligerency; Relations of the Belligerents; Relations between Belligerents and Neutrals; Negotiations of Belligerents during War; Restoration of Peace; Interpretation and Fulfilment of Treaty of Peace.

BRITISH INTERESTS AND ACTIVITIES IN TEXAS, 1838-1846.

BY EPHRAIM D. ADAMS, PH.D.

264 pages. 12mo. Price, $1.50.

This work is the result of extended research in the diplomatic archives of this country and of Great Britain. The author throws new and interesting light on the attitude of the English government toward Mexico, Texas, and the United States during the agitation for Texan independence and annexation. The book is a valuable contribution to the diplomatic questions discussed in part in the previous volume by Reeves on American Diplomacy under Tyler and Polk.

THE HAGUE PEACE CONFERENCES OF 1899 AND 1907.

Solicitor for the Department of State and Technical Delegate to the Second Conference.

Two volumes. 8vo. Price, $5.00.

Vol. I. The Conferences, 887 pages. Vol. II. Documents, 548 pages.

These two substantial volumes furnish the most complete account of the Conferences which has appeared in English, and will undoubtedly be accepted as the definitive account of the work of those two great gatherings. The fact that the author was the Technical Delegate of the United States to the Second Conference and played a conspicuous part in its deliberations adds to the authoritative value of the treatise.

THE TAILL OF RAUF COILYEAR: A SCOTTISH METRICAL ROMANCE OF THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY.

Edited, with Introduction, Notes, and Glossarial Index.

By WILLIAM HAND BROWNE.

164 pages. 8vo. $1.00.

The objects of the editor have been: First, to present a carefully edited and elucidated text of one of the most interesting works of the Scottish literary period, which, by the purity of the language and attractiveness of the story, is especially suitable for students. Secondly, in the historic and linguistic Introduction, to furnish a succinct introduction to the whole Scottish literary period.

POEMA DE FERNÁN GONCALEZ.

Neuva edicion, con introducción, notas y glosario.

Por C. CARROLL MARDEN.

282 pages. 8vo. Cloth, $2.50 net; Paper, $2.00.

The critical text of this old Spanish poem is based on the extant manuscripts and the early prose chronicles. In point of historical importance Fernán Gonzáles ranks with the Cid. The heroic character of the poem composed in his honor, the inherent interest of the subject matter, the many early legends which it sets forth, the fact that it is one of the very few extant specimens of early epic poetry—these considerations make the Poema de Fernán Gonzáles one of the most important monuments of Spanish literature.

HOW TO ORDER

In ordering—

(1) Give full and exact title of books as furnished in this List.

(2) Give your full address, including postoffice, county and State; also official school position, if any.

(3) Be sure to indicate whether the books are to be sent by mail, express, or freight. If you live at a distance from a railroad give your postoffice and the name of your railway or express station.

(4) Remit by Draft, Postoffice Money Order, Express Money Order, or Registered Letter.

(5) Don't put off your order until the last moment. We endeavor to fill all orders the day on which they are received, but when the schools are opening the pressure of business is so great that it is not always possible to follow this rule.

Dealers who desire to open an account should apply for terms and give references.

1. The prices quoted on this List are retail prices. Introduction and exchange prices will be given on application.

2. Any book in this List intended for class use will be sent for examination with a view to introduction, postpaid, on receipt of the retail price. However, the amount paid for this copy will be returned on receipt of a subsequent order for any reasonable number of books of like character. Books not intended for class use cannot be sent with the examination privilege.

3. Teachers applying for specimen copies for examination should give the names of their schools, subjects taught by them, and the number of pupils in the class.

SPELLING

COMMON WORDS COMMONLY MISSPELLED

By Bruce R. Payne

LAST winter one hundred and six young men tried to pass the entrance examination at West Point. Seventy-nine failed.

"Applicants for admission to West Point and Annapolis," said President Taft, in an address shortly afterward, "fail in many instances on subjects that every school boy ought to know. They cannot spell, and they are deficient in other rudimentary branches."

We have come to be a nation of bad spellers.

Who is to blame?

President Taft says that the ambition of school superintendents has led us into a lack of thoroughness.

Perhaps.

But is this the real secret?

Is it because we have not placed sufficient emphasis on spelling, or is it because we have placed too much emphasis on the sort of spelling that is not worth while?

How much time is spent in your school teaching pupils how to spell words which they will never have to spell again?

How much time is given to words which they will often have occasion to spell in after life?

Many pupils lack the spelling sense. They will never be good spellers. Why spend so much time trying to develop in them that which they will never have? Why not give them the words they must spell in every-day life and let them learn those "by heart," so that they will know how to spell them whether they develop any spelling sense or not?

Dr. Bruce Payne, of the University of Virginia, after fourteen years' experience as a teacher in high schools, colleges and summer schools, became convinced of three things:

First. That spelling is a much more difficult subject than it is usually regarded.

Second. That students of high school training misspell a very large number of common words.

Third. That the study of difficult or unusual words does not necessarily help one in the spelling of common words, and that instead of forcing a student through a list of difficult words rarely used in order that he may find ten such words which he has misspelled, it is far better to find out as nearly as possible what his frequent errors are and restrict his study to overcoming these.

Acting upon these convictions Dr. Payne invited five thousand teachers scattered throughout the Southern States to send him a list of common words commonly misspelled by their students.

With these lists before him he selected with infinite pains 2,375 of the most common words most commonly misspelled.

Out of these words he has built a speller—

The most unique,

The most modern,

And, for its particular purpose, certainly the most helpful speller ever produced.

It is a book that will gladden the heart of every teacher in the high school and upper primary grades, for it is the one book such teachers have been wishing for.

Most spellers are built on a theory.

But in spelling we face a condition, not a theory.

This Speller is built on practice.

It is the result of the daily school-room experiences of thousands of teachers scattered over a wide territory.

Cloth, 120 pages, price 28 cents.

WORD STUDIES

By Edwin S. Sheppe

THE purpose of this series of Spellers is (1) to enable the beginner to recognize readily and to pronounce accurately the various word-forms found in his reader; (2) to teach the spelling, meaning and use of words necessary for a sound education, and (3) to bridge the gap between the spelling book and the dictionary.

The phonic drill-lists in Section I. are intended primarily to aid the beginner in giving to each letter or combination of letters in a word its proper sound-value, and thus to teach him to pronounce words at sight.

A knowledge of the sound-value of each letter, acquired from the phonic drills, will serve to give the child the power to spell, without previous study, the large class of words that are written as they are sounded. As a further aid to the mastery of the strange and devious ways of English orthography, the important law of the association of like with like is utilized by grouping words, as far as possible, according to both regularity and similarity of spelling. The more prolific and typical classes of words in common use are taken up first, then the smaller groups, and finally the phonic outlaws, which are comparatively few in number.

It is interesting to note that homonyms, such as too and two, new and knew, are never given in pairs, but are carefully kept apart. As the author tersely puts it, every homonymous word "should be wedded to its meaning, not to its mate." In all this work the well established principle of learning to know by doing is constantly exemplified.

The numerous exercises in searching for hidden words, in rhyming, in word transformation, in phrase spelling, in careful pronunciation, in word making, in completing sentences, find unity in the common purpose of training the child to examine words letter by letter, to study them in connection with their meaning and use, to observe articulate sounds, and to master inductively the rules governing the spelling of the great class of words that are formed according to fixed principles.

The gap between the ordinary spelling book and the dictionary is an almost insurmountable obstacle to the pupil, even with the help of a good teacher. Most pupils never learn to use a dictionary intelligently; in consulting it, they seldom get either the correct pronunciation of a word or the meaning suited to its use. This new series of Spellers leads up to the Dictionary.

The numerous and varied exercises in syllabication and accent, in dictionary practice, in marking letters diacritically, in the use of index-words and phonic key-words, in making definitions, in discriminating between synonyms, in the study of prefixes, suffixes, and roots, make the pupil understand the use and advantage of a dictionary. The habit of word study thus acquired will grow upon him as he grows older, and will solve the spelling problem in the only way in which it can ever be solved.

Finally, there is not a dull lesson in the series. This is rather an unusual claim to make for a Speller, but then it is an unusual Speller. Perhaps after all this is its strongest point—every lesson is interesting.

The most excellent spelling book I have ever seen. I know of no other book that makes the task of learning to spell a pleasure. But the books are more than good spelling books. They teach correct pronunciation and finally lead up to an intelligent use of the dictionary. The books are full of a great variety of interesting material, and are very carefully graded. I hope they may be as well received as they deserve to be.—Lida B. McMurry, DeKalb, Ill.

COMMON SCHOOL SPELLER

By E. C. Branson

THE First Book is made to be used side by side with First and Second Readers as a direct and distinct help to the child in learning to read.

The Second Book meets the needs of the pupils in the Third, Fourth and Fifth Reader classes.

The vocabulary includes, first, the vocabulary of the common school text-books; second, the common words in daily use outside of the school-room, especially such as are frequently misspelled or mispronounced. Mere catch-words, difficult to spell and infrequently used, are excluded.

The exercises for dictation, copying, sentence spelling and the like, have an ethical value far beyond that of other spellers, as a casual glance will show. In no other speller will one find so many selections replete with ennobling sentiments.

The systematic reviews of words frequently mispronounced or misspelled will almost inevitably make the faithful pupil a good speller of every-day English.

Dallas Richmond Atlanta

B F Johnson Publishing Co

SOUTHERN SCHOOL AND HOME, Tallahassee, Fla.: "The chief purpose of a speller is really to take the place of a teacher, for every book the child has should be a spelling book, and the reviews should be arranged by the teacher from the words coming within the experience of the child. But such an ideal spelling course will not be attained except where there is an ideal teacher and with only a pupil or two to train. Branson's Speller is the nearest possible approximation to this condition. The words are those every pupil meets with. The arrangement of the lessons affords the advantage of form and sound analogies, and trains the hand and eye, and the tongue and ear in the practical use of English."

MATHEMATICS

SCHOOL ARITHMETIC

By J. M. Colaw, J. K. Ellwood
Frank W. Duke and Jas. K. Powers

THIS series embraces two courses of two and three books respectively.

I.

THREE-BOOK COURSE.

Primary Book,
Intermediate Book,
Advanced Book.

This is offered as a complete series, comprising all the Arithmetic required from the Primary to the High School, both inclusive.

The Primary Book connects Arithmetic with the child's life and makes it real to him. He is taught to count by counting actual things. He is taught to measure by measuring with a definite end in view. He grasps the true idea of number. All through the Primary Book there is ample provision for hand work, sense work, sense training, imaging and expression. You find at every turn an abundance of concrete work and graphic illustration.

The Intermediate Book furnishes additional work in the elementary operations of Arithmetic. Some teachers favor considerable practice in this line before entering upon the Advanced Book. The Intermediate affords this practice, reviewing and extending the subjects embraced in the Primary without duplicating. It is in harmony with the general plan of the series.

The inductive method of the Primary and Intermediate is continued in the Advanced Book. The pupil is not told anything, that he may be led to discover for himself. You do not see a formal statement brought abruptly forward. Questions and suggestions go before as heralds to prepare the way.

One is gratified to note the ample material for mental discipline provided in the oral exercises, which, by the way, put the strain on the reasoning faculty, where it ought to be, and not on the memory, where it ought not to be.

One of the most valuable features of the Advanced Book is the chapter on equations, which forms the basis of the treatment of percentage, profit and loss, and allied subjects. As every one knows, in the treatment of these subjects authors have usually assumed the truth of certain things from algebra and geometry in order to secure a basis for their treatment. In this book the basis is the equation in which letters are used to represent any concrete number. One notes with pleasure that the Advanced Book is in accord with the report of the Committee of Fifteen, though some subjects which the committee thought should be omitted from arithmetic are placed in the appendix, where they are as carefully treated as if they were an integral part of the book.

The Advanced Book is an adequate substitute for three books—a grammar school arithmetic, a high school arithmetic, and an elementary algebra. Advanced classes are provided for in the body of the book as well as in the appendix. The introduction to algebra at the end will readily take the place of an elementary algebra. The fundamental algebraic processes are clearly treated in accordance with the most approved methods.

Logical minds will note with pleasure the orderly arrangement of subjects. For instance, common fractions are treated after decimal fractions because the former are more difficult, while the treatment of United States money precedes that of decimal fractions because it serves as an easy introduction to that subject.

Taken altogether, this comes wonderfully near one's idea of an ideal and complete series.

II.

TWO-BOOK COURSE.

Elementary Book.

Practical Book.

This is offered as a Common School Course, intended to fit pupils for the High School or for the affairs of life.

The Elementary Book is for the use of the pupil after he has learned to read and after some drilling and oral instruction in the simplest numerical processes have been given him.

The first part of the text may be used by the teacher as suggestive of the oral work given to beginners. The instruction may then be repeated in a more formal way when the pupil has the book in his own hands.

The course proceeds by carefully graded steps to inculcate those principles so necessary to a beginner in order that he may in later years acquire the habit of thinking in number. Numerous examples are given, the subject matter of which is within the range of the experience of the child, and yet there is a sufficient variety of subjects used to stimulate his interest. Incidentally, many important facts are introduced wherever the number idea is paramount.

Pedagogically the best modern system is followed. The concreteness of development is amplified by pictures which aptly illustrate important principles.

The entire matter of the book is new, and the arrangement is such as to lead the pupil naturally and easily to a comprehension of integers and easy fractions added, subtracted, multiplied and divided.

The subject of decimals is introduced by means of the United States decimal system of currency.

The Practical Book follows the work of the Elementary along logical and useful lines. It embraces all the subjects that properly belong in a book of its scope, so treated as to attract and hold the interest of the pupils. Every subject is so presented as to be readily mastered by pupils of the age and grade for which it is intended. This will greatly facilitate the work of the teacher.

The fundamental operations are reviewed in such a manner as to assure a good working knowledge of them before entering upon higher work, and to set forth strikingly the advantages of a uniform scale as found in the decimal system.

A chapter on Short Methods has many features that will prove helpful in computation. The equation is introduced and utilized in the solution of problems. It is treated in such a way as to be within the reach of those who have never studied Algebra, while laying a foundation for the subject. Technicalities are avoided. A distinguished educator, after examining this part of the book, said that he was gratified at finding such a clear presentation of the equation without the introduction of such expressions as "terms," "members," "axioms," "transposing," etc.

Related Problems cover a wide range of useful information on live subjects while furnishing excellent arithmetical drill.

Ratio and Proportion are so treated as to take away their sting, and to supply pupils with a valuable approach in the solution of problems.

B F Johnson Publishing Co

The solutions throughout the book are models of cleverness and suggestiveness. By the time the latter part of the book is reached the pupil has at his disposal many "lines of approach" in the solution of problems that may come to him in after life.

The book contains a very large number of problems, for the most part fresh from the mint.

ELEMENTARY ALGEBRA

By J. M. Colaw

IN the preparation of this text the aim has been to adapt elementary algebra to the practical needs of high school pupils. In all essential particulars it conforms to the most recent courses of study, and embodies the saner views expressed in the recent reports and syllabi of mathematical societies and associations.

The method of presentation is inductive. By basing the treatment on the pupil's knowledge of elementary arithmetic, algebra is presented as a continuation and extension of that subject. In passing to new ideas, numerical illustrations are freely used, and abundant concrete material has been introduced to make the subject easily and clearly understood.

In addition to the inductive exercises intended to lead up to principles and processes, many oral examples have been included in the exercises and numerous pointed questions have been placed in the reviews for the purpose of fixing definitions, principles, and processes in the pupil's mind. The frequent "review exercises" serve to impress and render familiar the more essential facts of elementary algebra.

Throughout the treatment the author has kept constantly in mind that the purpose of the study of algebra, as of arithmetic, is a disciplinary means to a practical end. Hence, the author has not overlooked its value as a means of cultivating the reasoning faculty of the pupil; at the same time he fully recognizes the utility of the subject and aims to present it in relation to its practical uses in real life. To this end, while not sacrificing such of the commonly accepted problems as teach directly the features of equations, many real applied problems, drawn from physics, geometry, commerce, and the various phases of everyday life, have been introduced, together with many interesting problems that are solved by substitution in formulæ. In the selection of applied problems, care has been taken to include only those that have some interest to the majority of the pupils in the class and that do not involve technicalities requiring too much explanation to make them understood.

The arrangement is such that no difficult phases are encountered in the first year, and only essentials are emphasized. Throughout the book the subject-matter is kept well within the comprehension of the average high school pupil. The problem work begins early and is distributed at frequent intervals so as to prevent interest from tiring by reason of long stretches of merely technical work. Theoretical material is reduced to a minimum; complicated and impracticable examples and problems are avoided.

To meet the requirements of the maximum courses of study, certain topics under the heading "Supplementary Work" have been retained.

Early and frequent use is made of graphical methods. By avoiding technical terms, the treatment is simply and clearly presented.

It is believed that the number and variety of the exercises, the abundance and practical character of the problems, and the careful grading of both will commend the book to progressive teachers.

SCHOOL ALGEBRA

By John M. Colaw and J. K. Ellwood

IN this book will be found many of the excellent features which have made the Colaw and Ellwood Arithmetics so popular with progressive teachers. The method used in presenting subjects is inductive. The examples and problems are abundant and of the most satisfactory type. They are divided into two groups, the second group being designed for advanced pupils.

In the presentation of principles and the solution of problems the strictest attention has been given to mathematical form and accuracy. The several topics are treated more clearly and fully than in most texts, but in no case is the treatment verbose.

In accordance with the latest report of the Mathematical Association of Great Britain the authors have seen fit to make several departures from the stereotyped presentation of algebra. For example, the treatment of Graphs has been placed in the body of the book—under Simple Equations and also under Intermediate Equations.

READING

GRADED CLASSICS

By F. T. Norvell and M. W. Haliburton

THE remarkable popularity of this series of Readers is apparently due to the fact that it teaches the child to read in a way that develops in him a love for reading. Everything is made to bend to this end. It is for this reason that the First Reader has been made the easiest of all the readers that have been made. In its 143 pages of reading one will find but 493 different words. In no other book, we believe, will be found so few words doing service over so great a space. Moreover, all this space is filled with genuine reading matter. There is no padding.

The book was built in full view of the school-room. Every sentence was tested in the light of experience. All the features of the "word" and so-called "sentence" methods that have been retained have been retained because they have proved themselves worthy to live. It is a survival of the fittest. These features are supplemented by careful phonic drills. Notice these drills: you will see no diacritics. Notice them again: they are not the words which the pupil has already learned; they are words which he will soon have use for in his reading.

The action sentences and their arrangement are especially pleasing. These sentences wonderfully quicken the child's interest in reading, and wonderfully aid him in grasping the thought of what he is reading.

All the selections are within easy grasp of the child-mind. This does not mean simply that the words are within the child's range, but that the ideas are within his range also. The authors have remembered what so many makers of readers have forgotten, that a story may be written in words of one syllable and yet be utterly incomprehensible to a child.

The book is rapidly progressive. At first glance one will be apt to say that it moves too rapidly. A well-known educator, on picking up the book for the first time, turned at once to the pages in the back of the book, and after a moment said: "This will not do. A child is not ready to read such stories at the end of a First Reader." Then he turned back to the beginning and went through it page by page. "It's wonderful!" he exclaimed at the end. "It shall go into my schools." And it went. He found that the grading is so perfect that when the child gets to the stories he is ready for them: he already knows the words that are used in them.

The pictures—of which there are many beautiful ones in colors as well as in black and white—admirably serve the two-fold purpose of illuminating the text and awakening an interest in art. The teacher will be particularly pleased with the plan of illustrating the text very freely in Part I., and less freely in Part II. This plan not only gives more room for reading matter in the latter part of the book, but it throws the child more on his own resources as he goes along. It is refreshing to see that the illustrations are not allowed to break up the text to the confusion of the child. The editor rather than the printer has had his way, and clearness is not sacrificed to the mysteries of mechanical make-up.

The Second Reader is composed entirely of classics. There is no made-to-order nature talk, but what is far better, there are opportunities along the way for talks about nature from the teacher himself. It is not a book of botany or zoölogy; it is a book of literature; and nature talks, such as disfigure many readers, are not literature.

The grading in this reader is as accurate as in the first book. No lesson contains more than eight new words. The 493 words used in the First Reader are placed in the beginning of the Second, thus giving the teacher an opportunity to review the First before entering upon the Second.

It delights the eye all the way through this book to see nothing but literature. One will notice a gradual change in the character of the stories as one turns the pages. At the beginning they are imaginative; farther on they grow more probable and true. There is, too, a happy grouping of related subjects. The child's interest reaches its height in the thirty-five or forty pages at the end which tell of child-life among the different races. There is a description of the child-life of a race, and then one or two favorite stories of the children of that race.

One closes the book thinking of the remarkable richness and variety of the feast it spreads. There are selections from the French, German, Norse, Japanese, Hawaiian, Old English, Norwegian, Indian, and one knows not how many more.

The Third Reader has 695 new words and fifteen prose and fifteen poetical selections. The accurate grading of the first two books is continued in this Reader. No lesson contains more than ten new words, the average being eight.

The subject matter has been chosen with unusual care. Child-life is the prevailing keynote. While nature-study lessons as such have been excluded, it will be found that a great deal of the subject matter opens up a tempting path to nature work.

The child who studies this Reader will hardly realize that it is a text-book. Seat work, such exercises as "Use these words in sentences," quotations incomprehensible to the child-mind, definitions, and all such useless padding, have been omitted; and even the lists of new words have been relegated to the back of the book.

B F Johnson Publishing Co

In the choice of illustrations the authors have shown an intimate knowledge of child-nature. Every picture in the book appeals to the child's sense of art and quickens his interest. Especially valuable are the marginal illustrations which happily take the place of the bewildering definitions which usually accompany the unfamiliar words of the text.

As for the Fourth and Fifth Readers—well, we do not believe that there is anything—in Readers—more thoroughly satisfying than these golden sheaves of complete, exquisitely illustrated stories gathered from the whole field of classical literature. For the convenience of graded schools the Fifth Reader is also issued in parts, all of which are beautifully illustrated.

THE JOHNSON READERS

Revised by E. C. Branson

THE Johnson Readers contain the best literature. There isn't a trashy lesson in these Readers. There isn't a line to awaken a vile appetite. There isn't a hint of the impure and vicious. There is no belittling of anything that is noble. There is nothing sacriligious or untruthful in them. There is no pretty writing of doubtful tendencies. There is nothing but the best in them.

The Johnson Readers are well graded. There are no ditches to jump. There are no lessons "too hard," followed by lessons "too easy." Lessons of the same grade are not piled one on the other to call a halt. From start to finish the way is smooth and easy.

OSWALD GARRETT, Superintendent Schools, East Bernard, Tex.: "I have been making some comparative studies. The Johnson Readers give me some things that I have long needed, but have been unable to get in other books. Especially do I like the word list, definitions, the seat work, the script and character of the selections."

PLAYMATES—A PRIMER

By M. W. Haliburton.

THE playmates in this primer are three country children with their pet animals, and two city children The subject matter is made up of the conversation of these children while playing and roaming about the farm. The story is a continuous one, and the interest of the pupil is never allowed to flag. The grading is very easy,—only one hundred and ninety words in ninety-two pages of reading matter.

Sixteen four-color plates and numerous illustrations in black and white,—ninety-six pages.

MOSES' PRIMER (Revised)

By Edward P. Moses

THE remarkable results obtained in teaching children to read by what is known as the "Moses method" have created a demand for a primer by the author of this method—Superintendent E. P. Moses, of the Raleigh (N. C.) schools. The purpose of this primer is to afford an introduction to the forms of about three hundred words with whose meaning children of the primer age are already familiar. As the author says in his preface: "The main work of the teacher of the primary school, during the first school year at least, should be to teach the symbols for what the children have been acquiring during the four years preceding their entrance into the school."

Boards; price, 20 cents.

CARNEFIX PRIMER

By Frances D. Carnefix

THE Carnefix Primer begins at the beginning. The first lesson introduces a and no other word. A dozen a's and a dozen objects.

It is perfectly graded to the end. At the end of one lesson the child is ready for the next.

It is objective. Instead of a WORD, a PICTURE. A picture that suggests the word it represents, and no other.

It introduces only ninety words. The ninety words a child needs to know before he enters his First Reader.

There is a Phonic Chart at the end.

May be used either with or without the Carnefix Practical Sight-Word Reading Chart and Phonic Exercise.

Price, paper, 5 cents. Boards, 10 cents.

PRACTICAL SIGHT-WORD READING CHART AND PHONIC EXERCISE

By Frances D. Carnefix

THE Carnefix is a handsomely printed set of more than a hundred charts, substantially bound on a heavy roller. The lessons are printed in large, clear type, on soft, tinted paper chosen to relieve the eyes of any unpleasant strain. It contains ninety words for sight reading. The sentences and phrases are profusely illustrated with beautifully colored pictures, which instantly attract and delight the children. The author has been especially happy in the arrangement of pictures in sentences and in the grading. It is simple, attractive, and thoroughly adapted to the needs of beginners. Two pages are devoted to phonic drills.

A sixteen page manual, fully explaining the chart and its uses, is furnished free with every chart ordered.

Price, $7.50; edges securely bound with cloth, $12.50. Easel for the Chart $1.00.

STORIES OF BIRD LIFE

By T. Gilbert Pearson

"MY children," writes Dr. Egbert W. Smith, "are captivated with Mr. Pearson's book.. I am not surprised. A more wholesome and fascinating volume for young and old I have rarely seen. It is as interesting as a novel and as instructive as a text-book. My only regret is that this book was not in my hands when I was a boy. The style of the book is admirable. Clear and limpid as a mountain brook, it is brightened throughout with gleams of quiet humor that seem a reflection of nature's own sunshine. There are twenty chapters, all beautifully illustrated. It is hard to tell which is the best, all are so full of entertainment and instruction."

For the Fifth and Sixth Grades. Fully illustrated. Colored Frontispiece. Cloth, 236 pages. Price, 60c.; in five parts, paper covers, 10c. each.

TENNESSEE HISTORY STORIES

By T. C. Karns

IN the preparation of this book the aim has been to give to the children of Tennessee such an insight into the history of their State as will awaken in them a desire for more, and cultivate in them a taste for historical reading and research. As the author well says, no State has a history of more absorbing interest than Tennessee. "Her people were among the first pioneer settlers west of the Alleghanies. Her sons struck a decisive blow for American liberty at King's Mountain. She was one of the first three States added to the Union. Her early situation west of the mountains gave her a unique relation to the rest of the country. Moreover, she has always played a prominent part in the affairs of the nation, and her soldiers and statesmen have been among its leaders."

Designed for supplementary reading in the third and fourth grades.

TEXAS HISTORY STORIES

By E. G. Littlejohn

WITHOUT attempting to present a connected narrative of events, the author has depicted the lives of the leading characters of the Lone Star State in a manner at once graphic and beautiful.

Dallas Richmond Atlanta

The salient features of the era of exploration are grouped about the adventurer, Cabeza de Vaca.

The incidents of the short day in which the "lilies of France" waved over the colony are made to live in the life of the chivalrous and courteous La Salle.

The Alamo, San Jacinto, and Goliad, and the heroic deeds which resulted in the establishment of the Republic, become part and parcel of the lives of Houston, Austin, and David Crockett; while the glorious part which Texas played under the "Stars and Bars" is immortalized with the name Dick Dowling.

SOLDIER LIFE IN THE ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA—REVISED.

By Carlton McCarthy

HISTORIANS deal with public men and public events. Carlton McCarthy deals with the private soldier in his everyday life. He tells what the historian has left untold, and it is the most interesting part of the story. There's nothing like it—nothing save the fireside talks with which our soldier boys once charmed our nights. And this is really what this book is—the fireside talks of one of the most charming of talkers. Few men can tell a war story so well.

None can better describe the minute details of a soldier's everyday life, for he was one of them, a boy private in that ragged band of heroes who followed Lee.

LIFE OF GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE

By Mrs. M. L. Williamson

THE story of a beautiful life beautifully told. As Mrs. Williamson asks in her preface, "While teaching pupils to read, why not fix in their minds the names and deeds of our great men, thereby laying the foundation of historical knowledge and instilling true patriotism into their youthful souls?" And as she adds, "In looking over the lives of our American heroes we find not one which presents such a picture of moral grandeur as that of Lee. Place this picture before the little ones, and you cannot fail to make them look upward to noble ideals."

ART EDUCATION, New York: * * * "The life of no hero of arms in all the history of the world, perhaps, contains so many lessons of the purest, truest, noblest manhood as does the life history of General R. E. Lee, and every child, North or South, will become a better man or woman by studying Lee's character. * * * Mrs. Williamson's little book is intensely interesting, and would be an excellent thing in the hands of a teacher from which to draw illustrations for teaching the nobility of the highest type of Christian character."

LIFE OF GENERAL THOMAS J. JACKSON

By Mrs. M. L. Williamson

IN words which little children will quickly comprehend, Mrs. Williamson presents a most striking portrait of perhaps the most striking figure in the military annals of modern times. She is especially happy in her effort to portray "amid the blaze of his matchless military genius, the unchanging rectitude of his conduct, the stern will-power by which he conquered all difficulties, his firm belief in an over-ruling Providence, and his entire submission to the Divine will. These traits of character were the cornerstone upon which he reared the edifice of his greatness, and upon which the young people of our day will do well to build."

S. H. STOUT, A. M., M. D., LL.D., Dallas, Tex.: "I have carefully and critically read Mrs. Mary L. Williamson's Life of Robert E. Lee and Life of T. J. Jackson for the young. I am delighted with them. They ought to be universally adopted as supplementary reading matter for the use of pupils in the third and fourth grades of our public schools. The author is forcible and truthful in her statements of facts, and her style is fascinating to youthful minds."

FIFTY FAMOUS FABLES

By Lida B. McMurry

THE fifty fables in this book have been selected for second grade reading because they are easily comprehended by pupils of that grade and because they teach lessons which every child should learn.

It is not wise to tell the class the moral application of the fables. It is better to have each pupil make his own application without any suggestion from the teacher.

In adapting the stories the conversational form has been largely used; this form not only gives much pleasure to the children, but it also affords excellent opportunities for voice culture.

Most of the stories have been successfully used for several years with classes of children in the State Normal School at DeKalb.

PENMANSHIP

SMITHDEAL'S SLANT WRITING BOOKS

By G. M. Smithdeal

BOOK 1 contains the small and capital letters and the figures. The main features of this book are word building, the placing of small letters and their corresponding capitals in juxtaposition, and the introduction of the simplest punctuation marks.

In Book 2 short sentences are used with the simplest punctuation marks. The four arithmetical signs appear in this book.

The copies in Book 3 are interesting historical statements and simple business sentences. There are additional punctuation marks.

Book 4 contains a collection of choice one and two-line quotations from standard authors.

Book 5 contains "Dictation Exercises," treating of interesting persons and events, and a series of social forms, including letters, formal and informal notes, etc.

Book 6 contains business forms in general use, including notes, drafts, checks, telegrams, advertisements, etc.,

Great care has been exercised in selecting styles of letters. For example, in most copybooks the standard capitals A and H require lifting the pen from the paper and starting again, twice in the construction of each letter. In the Smithdeal Copybooks these forms are made without lifting the pen at all.

The slant of writing in these books has been reduced from 52 to 45 degrees.

ENGLISH

OUR LANGUAGE

By C. Alphonso Smith
Lida B. McMurry and F. T. Norvell

IN the preparation of this series it has been the aim of the authors (1) to interest the pupil by novel but vital illustrations, (2) to make him feel a pride in using good English, (3) to eliminate the dry-as-dust exercises that have so long been in vogue, and (4) to make the knowledge of the English language go hand in hand with the appreciation of English literature.

1. LANGUAGE LESSONS By Lida B. McMurry

THE keynote of this book is its treatment of the paragraph. What is a paragraph? Ask the average pupil of the sixth grade and he cannot tell you. He cannot tell you for the simple reason that his language books have not told him. They have practically ignored the subject. If the unit of thought is the paragraph—thus the authors seem to have reasoned—then the pupil ought to get a clear idea of what constitutes a paragraph just as soon as possible. The subject is therefore introduced at the first practicable moment—in the treatment of letter-writing, the first form of composition taken up.

The treatment of the paragraph forms the backbone of the book from letter-writing to the end. The idea is developed gradually by means of stories in outline, unfinished stories, suggestive pictures, series of related pictures, outlines of letters, suggestions for descriptions, etc. As a rule, the thought is given so that the pupil may devote himself entirely to the form of expression. He is not required to rack his brain for an idea, and then devote his fagged energies to working it out.

The authors have been especially happy in the treatment of inaccuracies of speech. Twelve common errors are brought forward and dealt with in a way that is decidedly refreshing, if not unique. There's a delightful sensation in watching the correct phrase loom up to take the place of the incorrect. Whether one agrees with the authors in all things or not, one cannot lay down the volume without feeling that here is something far beyond the ordinary.

And then there are the pictures—the wonderful story-telling pictures! Where will one find anything—in pictures—so charming to the children, so helpful and satisfying to the teacher?

"When a book appears bearing the name of Mrs. McMurry on the title page, every teacher should know it is not to be passed over lightly. This author's books are so full of the schoolroom atmosphere that one can almost see the children at work. This book is a step by step process in teaching our language to the youngest children. And so clear and logical is every progressive step that the primary teacher has only to follow it to bring her children to a point of excellence in this branch rarely attained even in the higher grades. The emphasis on the paragraph, that stumbling block to teachers themselves, is particularly valuable. The letter writing, punctuation, correction of the common errors in children's speech are all worth the study of everybody who is trying to teach the English language. The pages are not overloaded with cheap pictures, but every one means something to arouse the interest of the child and make him want to talk. 'Playing Doctor,' 'The Arab and His Horse,' and 'Great Expectations' are beautiful full-page color pictures not often found in ordinary text-books. The 'Suggestions for Teachers' at the end of the book are timely, and sympathetic in tone, as one teacher talks with another."—Primary Education, Boston, Mass.

11. LANGUAGE LESSONS AND GRAMMAR

By C. Alphonso Smith

EVERY line of this book has been dictated by experience in the schoolroom, by long study of language problems, and by the desire to adapt all the material used to the needs and limitations of the pupils. To this end explanations are first given of each principle presented, and these are followed successively by apt illustrations, compact definitions, and practical exercises. Exercises in language alternate with simple interpretations of literature, the author believing that it is the duty of a book of this sort to attract the pupil to good literature as well as to drill him in correct language.

The book is divided into two parts, each part having a certain unity in itself, the two parts making a larger and more complete unity. In Part I. there is an elementary treatment of the parts of speech, interspersed with exercises in sentence structure, with familiar quotations from the Bible and Shakespeare, with remarks on big and little words, with an exposition of the fundamentals of spelling and punctuation, with pointed anecdotes to be retold, and with many selections from masterpieces of prose and verse.

Part II. begins with the paragraph. This is followed by letter-writing, many letters of famous men to children being given. Sentences and parts of speech are treated with more detail and completeness than in Part I., but there is no repetition and no suggestion of fragmentariness in the treatment of either Part I. or Part II. As in Part I., there is a constant appeal to the pupil's originality and to his power of imagination, the author realizing that no two pupils are alike, and that no exercises should be chosen that do not minister to the diverse needs of different individualities.

III. GRAMMAR

By C. Alphonso Smith

THIS book has been prepared, not for the linguist, to whom grammar is a science, but for the child, to whom it should be simply the means of teaching him how to express his thoughts clearly and correctly.

The plan of the book is in accordance with the most approved methods of presenting English Grammar. There are two general divisions, (I) The Sentence and (II) The Parts of Speech.

The text opens with a brief treatment of the paragraph as a unit of thought. The sentence is then taken up and treated at length. Following this comes a discussion of clauses, phrases and words in the order named.

The book is intended for the upper grades of the grammar school.

DR. EDWIN A. ALDERMAN, President University of Virginia: "It gives me very sincere pleasure to bear hearty testimony to the efficiency and teachableness and attractiveness of this book as a text-book for the rational study of the English language. I have seen nothing better in the twenty years that I have given thought to school and college text-books. I believe that the return to the rational study of the English language is a good thing, just as I believe the revolt against the study of grammar was a good thing twenty years ago. That revolt has made possible such a splendid book as Professor Smith's. I wish for it great success."

HISTORY

HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

By Susan Pendleton Lee

LEE'S Histories of the United States not only give the facts, but they give them with painstaking accuracy. They are practicable. They can be taught. It is easy to teach them. It is a pleasure to teach them.

They are written to be taught. They were written by a teacher who knows how to teach and who knows the needs of teachers as well as of pupils. They have been revised not only with a view to securing accuracy, but to make them of the highest possible value in the schoolroom. They have been ground and polished until they fit into the work of the schoolroom as an ivory ball fits in its socket.

While the warp is the same in both books, the woof is different. Points briefly treated in one book are expanded in the other. For instance, in the Primary Book the War Between the States is very briefly given, while in the New School History it receives comprehensive treatment.

Lee's New School History is arranged to meet the needs of the grammar grades of our public schools. In the revised edition the history has been brought down to date.

There is an abundant supply of maps and helpful illustrations.

ROBERT S. BALLON, Centreville, Tenn.: "As a teacher of twenty-four years' experience, and as one who has served as County Superintendent over one-half of that time, I am ready to say that I do not wish to exchange Lee's New School History for any I have examined."

H. C. GILBERT, Superintendent of Public Schools, Florence, Ala.: "We have been using Lee's New School History of the United States in the seventh grade of our schools during the past session, and both the teacher and the pupils were delighted with it. It is an admirable work, beautifully illustrated, and strongly and attractively bound. We like the clear, bright and charming way the author has of 'talking' about great men and great events. We are pleased with the topical arrangement of the book, with the analyses, search questions and frequent maps, thereby linking, very properly, geography and history."

HALF HOURS IN SOUTHERN HISTORY

By Jno. Lesslie Hall

THIS is the most interesting, if not the most important, book on the South that has appeared within a decade. It is more interesting than the Clansman, for it holds you with its facts as closely as Mr. Dixon holds you with his fiction. It stirs your blood, but it does not stir up bad blood.

Dr. Hall was born too late to inherit the bitterness of the war, and too early to grow up without the smell of Southern fire upon his garments. He feels deeply, and he says what he feels straight from the shoulder; but he is too much of a gentleman to rub his fist under your nose, and as you read you are moved to honor him for his convictions, rather than combat his conclusions.

To the Southerner this book will come as a trumpet blast on a clear, frosty morning. To the Northerner it will come as an interesting revelation of how a Southerner of to-day—not of yesterday or of to-morrorw—a Southerner of the highest intellectual and social type, thinks and feels about the South, and about the Union, of which, as Dr. Hall reminds us, the South was the chief architect.

"No book could be more welcome or of greater service. The method of treatment is fascinating. It is the modern paragrapher's ideal in that each special subject—about 220—is put with all the glow of the essayist. It is a book that will be read by all Southern students and scholars, and it should be read as universally in the North. It would do us all good."—Boston Journal of Education.

"His pictures of Southern civilization before and since the civil war are drawn by an artistic hand and a spirit of kindly charity pervades the volume."—Boston Globe.

"Dr. Hall has done a work that ought to have been done, and we cordially commend his book to all who wish the young of our land to grow up with fair and honest and just views, and with an accurate and intelligent knowledge of history."—Southern Churchman.

"I cordially recommend the book."—General Stephen D. Lee.

POETS OF VIRGINIA By F. V. N. Painter

This volume will be welcomed by students and lovers of literature, not only because it is the first comprehensive study of the Virginia poets, and the first anthology of Virginia poetry, but also because it is an important contribution to the culture-history of the Virginia people, and an invaluable source book.

In his treatment the author has followed a chronological order which has been fixed by the date of publication of the successive volumes of verse. Upon the whole this has seemed the most satisfactory arrangement, though in several cases of posthumous publications it has seemed best to transfer the poet from his proper place. The facts presented in the introduction to each period throws much light on the distinctive character of the poetry of this period.

CIVICS

THE FEDERAL UNION AND MISSISSIPPI

By A. H. Ellett

THE plan of this book has been tested in the author's classes for more than ten years and excellent results have been accomplished by its use.

The outlines at the beginnings of the chapters, if brought together, would constitute one complete outline of the entire subject. This outline was first prepared; then the subject-matter of the text was made to conform to it. In preparing the outline, the author has endeavored to make it not only logical but also complete; in writing the text, he has striven to tell the truth and to tell it in a plain way.

Cloth, 286 pages. Price, 60 cents.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA AND THE UNITED STATES

By W. J. Peele

THE purpose of this book, as stated by the author, is "to prepare children for the duties of citizenship in North Carolina." To understand these duties one must have a knowledge of the laws and institutions, State and National, by and under which the rights and liberties of citizens are defined and maintained. The essential facts and principles of government and of the constitutional rights and duties of citizens are presented in this volume concisely, logically, and with admirable diction. The treatment can hardly fail to satisfy the most exacting teacher of civil government. One notices with pleasure the careful citation of authorities throughout.

Part I. gives an historical sketch of the formation of the government of North Carolina and of the United States, and then compares and contrasts the two constitutions in outline and shows how they were amended into their present forms.

In Part II. the State and National governments are treated separately. In this part the author considers the operation of government, State and Federal, in its several departments, together with their structure and organization, in detail; defines its powers and describes the offices by which they are applied, executed, and restrained; and gives a brief discussion of the aids and institutions of government, of State and Federal relations, and of interstate relations.

Part III. treats of the duties, qualifications, rights, and privileges of the citizen, the constitutional safeguards by which he is protected, and the remedies for the wrongs done to him and to his government.

TEXAS AND THE NATION

A Civil Government

By F. W. Chatfield and S. M. Sewell

THIS volume has been prepared to meet the demand for a text-book which shall treat not only of the general government, and of State government in general, but also of the State government of Texas in particular. The order of treatment is from the local to the national—beginning with the school district. The style is simple and clear, and the language will be readily understood by pupils of the seventh and eighth grades, for whom the book is intended.

AGRICULTURE

By A. M. Soule and E. H. L. Turpin

A COMMON SCHOOL text-book which aims to bring the child in contact with nature, to have him see for himself how crop plants live and develop under various conditions, and to learn by observation and by simple experiment the relation of the soil and its elements to crop growing.

After the essential facts about the soil and the plant are given, the subject of soil improvement is taken up, and tillage, crop rotation, legumes, manure, and commercial fertilizers are discussed. The clear, full treatment of this subject makes the book especially valuable in every section where there is a "run down" farm and a boy who is some day to be a farmer. There is a chapter on Field, Orchard, and Garden Crops, and one on Farm Animals. Under the subject of "Crop Enemies and Friends" weeds and harmful fungi and insects, and methods of controlling them are discussed. There are sections about good roads, farm tools, trees, and school gardens.

In the Appendix are useful tables and suggestions for work on special subjects which may be desired in certain sections and grades.

The book is profusely illustrated with pictures which really illustrate and explain the text.

THE EDUCATION OF TEACHERS.

By W. H. Payne

DR. PAYNE is a man with a message—the sort of message that compels attention. One must hear him through, though one may not agree with him all the way through. He goes to the very core of the matter, and, having found it, talks with us about it face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend. There are eight wonderfully stimulating chapters, every one of which one will want to read over and over again.

BY

FRANK L. CHANCE

THE CUBS' PEERLESS LEADER

Preface by CHARLES A. COMISKEY, Pres. Chicago White Sox

Base Hits and Home Runs in Baseball and Lovemaking

The most wonderful combination of facts and fiction ever written. Every page a thrill, from cover to cover. This is the book for fans, bleacherites and rooters. Dealers, here is the opportunity to make money. Place your orders today with your jobber, news company, or directly with us.

It is written with all the popular baseball parlance of the day by a man who knows his subject, and the action swings along with all the vigor and tensity of an exciting baseball game.
—Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.

Besides being an entertaining, rollicking story of baseball and love-making, the book gives the uninitiated a splendid idea of how our national game is played, and supplies a glossary of the baseball terms that are in common use among the fans.—Nashville American.

SPANISH MADE EASY

LAIRD & LEE'S VEST-POCKET

Practical Spanish Instructor

(ONE SOUND FOR EACH LETTER)

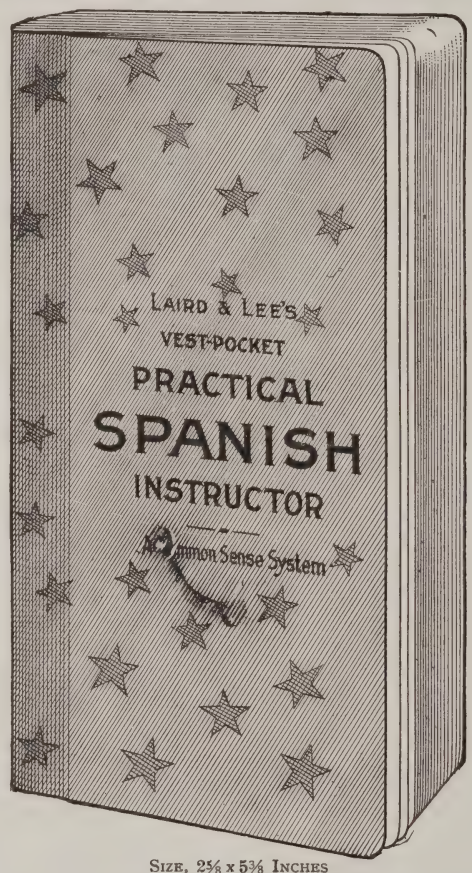
BY F. M. DE RIVAS

A Graduate of the University of Seville (Spain) and St. Edmund's College, London (England).

A unique system by which, after learning the alphabet, the student can pronounce correctly every word in the Spanish language.

A book that positively teaches how to speak Spanish without the aid of a tutor.

It is not a Dictionary, but a common sense system of learning Spanish.



SIZE, 2⅝ x 5⅜ INCHES

A necessity to everybody wishing to take advantage of the development of our modern history.

Invaluable to the business man, the tourist, salesman, merchant, sailor, soldier, and to all interested in the Spanish language.

It spells, pronounces and teaches words and sentences correctly without going into grammatical details.

It contains about 250 pages of instruction in the practical pronunciation and use of the Spanish language, arranged systematically, compactly, and within the understanding of every person, without those irksome or confusing rules of grammar that make the study of any language tedious. Also over 5,000 phrases needed in ordinary conversation on such necessary subjects as EATING, DRINKING, the WEATHER, HEALTH, etc., and answerable with "YES" or "NO," and a list of over 2,000 names of Spanish officials, ships, cities, etc., made prominent by the Spanish-American war, with their correct pronunciations.

A Companion Book for the Salva-Webster Spanish-English English-Spanish Dictionary.

DESCRIPTION

This series includes sixty Imperial 8vo volumes, complete, unaltered, and unabridged; no extracts or abridgments.

Paper. The deckle-edge, velvet-finish paper used in these volumes has been made especially to order.

Type. The type is large, readable, new, clear, and artistic. The type-page is 6⅝x3⅞ inches; the margins are liberal.

Presswork. Every volume has been printed by expert pressmen, the presses having been run at reduced speed to secure ideal results and perfect register.

Binding. The books are handsomely and substantially bound in dark blue buckram, gilt tops, uncut, with a heavy gold line around the borders, and containing the title on the side as well as on the back of each volume.

Mechanical Perfection. These sixty volumes are as nearly perfect mechanically as they can be made by the latest improvements in printing, engraving, photogravure, color lithography, paper manufacture, and binding, at the beginning of the twentieth century.

The art features comprise photogravures from famous paintings and classic sculpture, portraits of authors, mediæval illuminations, and palæographic manuscripts, choice examples of early printing and engraving, and various other illustrations.

Illustrated with colored plates and photogravures on Japan paper.

8vo, dark blue buckram. Per volume..... $3.50

Half morocco, gilt top. Per volume..... 5.00

Brief Titles of the Books Included in the Library of the World's Great Books

That We Are Offering Separately

The Complete Set Comprising

43 TITLES 60 VOLUMES

1—RAWLINSON'S ANCIENT HISTORY

From the earliest times to the fall of the Western Empire, comprising the history of Chaldea, Assyria, Media, Babylonia, Lydia, Phœnicia, Syria, Judea, Egypt, Carthage, Persia, Greece, Macedonia, Parthia, and Rome, with a special introduction by William F. McDowell, S.T.D., Ph.D. Illustrated with colored plates and photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

"The best modern work treating in a compendious form the subject of Ancient History generally."

2—HALLAM'S HISTORY OF THE MIDDLE AGES.

and Michelet's Modern History. History of Europe during the Middle Ages. By Henry Hallam, with a special introduction by Arthur Richmond Marsh, A.B. Also Modern History. By Jules Michelet. Translated from the French by M. C. M. Simpson. With special introduction by William MacDonald, Ph.D. Illustrated with full-page illuminated plates and photogravures on Japan paper. 3 vols..... $10.50

Hallam's famous history of the Middle Ages is not so much a dry record of historical data as it is a characteristic portraiture of the times to which it refers.

Every Volume Illustrated and Neatly Bound

3—GREEN'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND,

and Guizot's History of Civilization. A short History of the English People. By John Richard Green. With a special introduction by Albert S. Cook, Ph.D. Also History of Civilization in Europe. By Francois P. G. Guizot. Translated by William Hazlitt. With a special introduction by Paul Van Dyke, D.D. Illustrated with photogravures and facsimiles on Japan paper. 3 vols.... $10.50

"Not only the best compendious story of the growth of the English Nation, but it is doubtful if in all literature there is its peer in the popular chronicle of any nation."

4—CARLYLE'S FRENCH REVOLUTION.

The French Revolution. A History. By Thomas Carlyle. With a special introduction by Julian Hawthorne. Illustrated with photogravures and facsimiles on Japan paper. 2 vols..... $7.00

"Undoubtedly Carlyle's Masterpiece. No account of the French Revolution has ever been written that can compare with it in intensity of feeling and profoundness of thought."

5—CREASY'S DECISIVE BATTLES.

With the Continuation. Decisive Battles of the World. By Edward Shepherd Creasy. With a special introduction and supplementary chapters on the battles of Gettysburg, Sedan, Santiago and Manila, by John Gilmer Speed. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol.. $3.50

Creasy's "Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World from Marathon to Waterloo" is a famous book which is not merely lodged in libraries but is read and re-read. It is not only an authority, but it has a fascination both as to matter and style that would seem to insure its popularity with generations yet to come. It was a good idea to enrich it with the addition of spirited accounts of "Decisive Battles" of more recent date.

6—MONTESQUIEU'S SPIRIT OF LAWS, and Bagehot's Physics and Politics. The Spirit of Laws. By Baron de Montesquieu. Including D'Alembert's Analysis of the work. Translated from the French by Thomas Nugent, LL.D. With a special introduction by Hon. Frederick R. Coudert, LL.D. Also Physics and Politics; or, Thoughts on the application of the Principles of "Natural Selection" and "Inheritance" to Political Society. By Walter Bagehot. With a special introduction by J. Laurence Laughlin, Ph.D. Illustrated with facsimiles in color and with photogravures, all on Japan paper. 2 vols..... $7.00

That Montesquieu, in his famous book, laid bare the basis of all human laws was conceded by Voltaire (no friend of Montesquieu) when he said "The Human Family had lost its title deeds—Montesquieu found them and restored them to their owner."

7—MILL'S POLITICAL ECONOMY.

Principles of Political Economy. With some of their application to social Philosophy. By John Stuart Mill. With a special introduction by Arthur T. Hadley, LL.D., President of Yale University. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 2 vols..... $7.00

"Whatever changes may be made in economic theory as a whole, Mill's book will always have monumental importance as a record of the particular economic theories which inspired the political development of the first half of the nineteenth century."

8—DE TOCQUEVILLE'S DEMOCRACY IN AMERICA.

With special introductions by Hon. John T. Morgan, Senator from Alabama, and Hon. John J. Ingalls, LL.D., ex-Senator from Kansas. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 2 vols..... $7.00

"Though not originally written for Americans, 'Democracy in America' must always remain a work of engrossing and constantly increasing interest to citizens of the United States, as the first philosophic and comprehensive view of our society, institutions and destiny."

9—JOWETT'S PLATO AND ARISTOTLE.

Dialogues of Plato. Containing the Apology of Socrates, Crito, Phaedo and Protagoras. Also the Politics of Aristotle. With Introductions by the translator, Benjamin Jowett, and special introductions by Maurice Francis Egan, Ph.D., of the Catholic University of America. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol... $3.50

"Jowett's translations have undoubtedly created new admirers of Greek prose, and will long remain the English standard Versions of these immortal classics."

10—BACON'S ADVANCEMENT OF LEARNING, and Novum Organum, or True Suggestions for the Interpretation of Nature. With a special introduction by James Edward Creighton, Ph.D. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

"The advancement of Learning, first published in 1605, was the first great prose work on a secular subject in the English language and well represents the Vigor of Bacon's thought and the wonderful power and charm of his imagination."

11—KANT'S CRITIQUE.

Critique of Pure Reason. By Immanuel Kant. With an introduction by the translator, J. M. D. Meiklejohn, and a special introduction by Brandt V. B. Dixon, LL.D. Illustrated with portrait of Kant and other full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

"Kant's Philosophy marks an epoch in the history of modern thought. His 'Critique,' however much we may agree or disagree with his reasonings, stands out as one of the great landmarks in the history of Philosophy."

12—HEGEL'S PHILOSOPHY OF HISTORY.
With prefaces by Charles Hegel and the translator, J. Sibree, M.A. Illustrated with full-page photogravures and facsimiles, all on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

Hegel's lectures on the Philosophy of History have attained a celebrity that is almost world-wide. In Germany they are recognized as of the highest authority, and English readers will find that one of the greatest claims that the volume has to practical value is that it presents the leading facts of history from an altogether novel point of view.

13—DEMOSTHENES' ORATIONS.
Pronounced to excite the Athenians against Philip, King of Macedon; and on occasions of public deliberation. With introductions by the translator, Thomas Leland, D.D., and a special introduction by Epiphanius Wilson, A.M. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

"Demosthenes was the most famous of Greek Orators. Even through the medium of a translation we can see and feel the transcendent spell such a speaker could cast over the most cultured and acute of audiences, and we can understand how the most genuine, the most unaffected, the most powerful of ancient orators roused his degenerate countrymen to the final struggle of Chaeronea."

14—CICERO'S ORATIONS.

Translated by Charles Duke Yonge, A.B. With a special introduction by Charles H. Ohly, Ph.D. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

"Cicero is the embodiment of Roman Eloquence. None is greater than he save Demosthenes; none of the ancients nearer to us than he." This handsome volume comprises seventeen orations, including four against Catiline, four against Marcus Antonius, Defence of Publius Sylla, The Prosecution of Verres, etc.

15—BRITISH ORATIONS.

Orations of British Orators, including biographical and critical sketches. With a special introduction by Julian Hawthorne. Illustrated with portraits in photogravure and facsimiles in color, all on Japan paper. 2 vols..... $7.00

Includes some of the best orations of Pitt, Burke, Curran, Grattan, Erskine, Sheridan, Canning, O'Connell, Emmet, Cobden, Disraeli, Cardinals Manning and Newman, Gladstone, Bright and many others whose very names suggest great events in English history.

16—AMERICAN ORATIONS.

Orations of American Orators, including biographical and critical sketches. With a special introduction by Chauncey C. Starkweather, A.B. Illustrated with portraits in photogravure and facsimiles in color, all on Japan paper. 2 vols.... $7.00

Masterpieces of American Oratory, beginning with an oration by Samuel Adams, on American Independence, delivered on August 1, 1776, and ending with one delivered by Archbishop Ireland on July 10, 1898, his subject being "Peace in the Wake of Victory." Between the two appear specimen orations by Washington, Patrick Henry, Alex. Hamilton, Clay, Calhoun, Webster, Everett, Choate, Lincoln, Sumner, Beecher, Blaine, Ingersoll, Cleveland, McKinley, and many others equally worthy of place in such a gathering.

17—BRITISH ESSAYS.

Essays of British Essayists, including biographical and critical sketches. With a special introduction by Chauncey C. Starkweather, A.B. Illustrated with frontispiece portraits of Joseph Addison and Charles Lamb, with other plates in photogravure and facsimile, all on Japan paper. 2 vols..... $7.00 to $2.00

Among those from whom representative essays have been chosen may be mentioned Francis Bacon, Sir Thomas Browne, John Locke, Sir Richard Steele, Joseph Addison, Sydney Smith, Oliver Goldsmith, Charles Lamb, William Hazlitt, Macaulay, Leigh Hunt, Ruskin and many others, all accompanied by brief but valuable biographical sketches.

18—AMERICAN ESSAYS.

Essays of American Essayists, including biographical and critical sketches. With a special introduction by Chauncey S. Starkweather, A.B. With frontispiece portrait of Emerson and other full-page illustrations, all on Japan paper. 1 vol. $3.50

A most charming selection of representative essays, accompanied by concise biographical sketches of American writers, from Benjamin Franklin to George William Curtis. Among those included are Irving, Bryant, Prescott, Hawthorne, Emerson, Poe, Motley, Thoreau and others equally famous in American literature.

19—FRENCH, GERMAN AND ITALIAN ESSAYS.

Including biographical and critical sketches. With a special introduction by Chauncey C. Starkweather, A.B. With photogravure portrait of Montaigne as a frontispice and three plates of facsimiles, one illuminated in colors, all on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

"Representative essays from Montaigne, Voltaire, Rousseau, Lessing, Wieland, Goethe, Schiller, Richter, Heine, Leopardi, Mazzini and other bright lights in the literature of three great Nations. The biographical sketches are exceptionally good."

20—PERSIAN AND JAPANESE LITERATURE.
Comprising the Shah Nameh, the Rubaiyat, The Divan and The Gulistan, with selections from Genji Monogatari and classical poetry and drama of Japan. With introduction and critical and biographical sketches by Richard J. H. Gottheil and Epiphanius Wilson. Illustrated with full-page plates in photogravure and facsimile, all on Japan paper. 2 vols..... $7.00

The Persian authors here presented in English garb, have won high place in the world's temple of fame, while the Romance of Genji, which forms the Chief part of the Japanese section, has been regarded for centuries by the Japanese people as a national treasure. The two volumes form a good introduction to the literature of the Orient for English readers.

21—HINDU LITERATURE.
Comprising the Book of Good Counsels, Nala and Damayanti, Sakoontala, The Ramayana, and Poems of Toru Dutt. With critical and biographical sketches by Epiphanius Wilson, A.M. Frontispiece photogravure of the Taj-Mahal from a photograph, and two facsimiles in color, all on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

The translations are by Sir Edwin Arnold and Sir Monier Monier-Williams. The "Book of Good Counsels"—a story book from the Sanscrit, possessing all the charm of novelty—is from the "Hitopadesa," a work of great antiquity and extended popularity.

22—CHINESE AND ARABIAN LITERATURE.
Selected translations by James Leggee, John Francis Davis and others. With critical and biographical sketches by Epiphanius Wilson, A.M. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

The Chinese portion of the volume comprises the Analects of Confucius, the Shi-King, the Sayings of Mencius, the Sorrows of Han and the Travels of Fa-Hien; while the Arabian section gives us selections from Arabian poetry, the Romance of Antar and selected tales from the Arabian Nights, edited by Andrew Lang.

23—SACRED BOOKS OF THE EAST.
Comprising the Vedic Hymns, Zend-Avesta, Dhammapada, Upanishads, selections from the Koran and the Life of Buddha. With critical and biographical sketches by Epiphanius Wilson, A.M. Illustrated with a photogravure portrait of Mohammed, from a rare print, and "The Death of Buddha," a facsimile example of Oriental printing and engraving; both on Japan paper. 1 vol.. $3.50
The translations are by F. Max Muller, James Darmestetter and other Oriental scholars, the volume presenting in authoritative form to English readers representative portions of the famous series of the Sacred Books of the East.

24—CLASSIC DRAMA.
First Series. Comprising plays by Molière, Racine, Goldsmith, etc. With a special introduction by Albert Ellery Bergh. Illustrated with photogravure frontispiece portrait of Coquelin as Mascarille and two other full-page plates on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

Blackie; Sheridan's The Rivals; Schiller's Mary Stuart (Metrical translation by J. Mellish); Ibsen's A Doll's House (translation by William Archer); Sardou's Les Pattes de Mouche (translation by Léonie Gilmour).

26—TAINE'S ENGLISH LITERATURE.
History of English Literature. By Hippolyte Adolphe Taine. Translated from the French by Henry Van Laun. With special introduction by J. Scott Clark, A.M. Illustrated with 12 full-page photogravure portraits, colored facsimiles, etc., all on Japan paper. 3 vols..... $10.50

A handsome library edition of Taine's Monumental work. "It forms an intellectual era in a man's life to make the acquaintance of Taine, especially of his masterful and inspiring work on English literature."—Moses Coit Tyler.

27—EGYPTIAN LITERATURE.
Comprising Egyptian Tales, Hymns, Invocations, The Book of the Dead and cuneiform writings. With a special introduction by Epiphanius Wilson, A.M. Illustrated with three full-page plates on Japan paper, including photogravure reproduction of Gerome's painting "Cleopatra and Cæsar" as a frontispiece. 1 vol..... $3.50

An effort to present for popular reading some of the rich mines of literature which have been brought to light as the result of the discoveries in Egyptian Archæology of comparatively recent years.

28—TURKISH LITERATURE.
Comprising Fables, Belles-Lettres and Sacred Traditions, translated into English for the first time. Illustrated with full-page plates on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

A unique collection of specimens of Turkish literature—a literature with which the European and American mind is by no means familiar; indeed, it has only recently become a distinctive feature in the world's intellectual activity.

29—HEBREW LITERATURE.

Comprising Talmudic Treatises, Hebrew Melodies and The Khabbalah Unveiled. With a special introduction by Epiphanius Wilson. With illuminated frontispiece and a photogravure from Bouguereau's painting, First Mourners, both on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

"While the most important remains of Hebrew literature are comprised in the Scriptures, there exist also a voluminous mass of Hebrew writings which are not included in the sacred canon. These writings are of supreme importance and value, and the selections in the present volume give a good idea of their interest, beauty, and subtlety of thought."

30—MOORISH AND MALAYAN LITERATURE.

With special introductions by René Basset, Ph.D., and Chauncey C. Starkweather, A.B. Illustrated with full-page plates on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

The Moorish section of this remarkable collection comprises Romantic Ballads, Tales of the Berbers, Stories of the Kabyles, Folk-Lore, and National Traditions: The Malayan portion comprises Romantic Tales, Epic Poetry and Royal Chronicles. The entire contents of the volume are here translated into English for the first time.

31—BABYLONIAN, ARMENIAN AND ASSYRIAN LITERATURE.

The Babylonian and Assyrian portion of the volume comprising the Epic of Izdubar, Hymns, Tablets and Cuneiform Inscriptions. With a special introduction by Epiphanius Wilson, A.M.; The Armenian Section comprising Poetry, Drama, Folk-Lore and classic traditions, translated into English for the first time, with a special introduction by Robert Arnot, M.A. Illustrated with full-page plates on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

One of the most interesting volumes of the series. The great Assyrian Epic Poem 'Izdubar' has been but recently known to European scholars. It was probably written about 2000 B.C. The specimens of Armenian literature are here given in English for the first time.

32—MEMOIRS OF EMINENT FRENCH MEN AND WOMEN.
With a special introduction by George Saintsbury. Illustrated with photogravure portrait of Louis the Fourteenth and a facsimile illumination of the fifteenth century, both on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50
COMPRISES: Memoirs of Philippe de Commines; Marguerite de Valois; Duc de Sully; Cardinal de Richelieu; Cardinal de Retz; Madame de Montespan; Duc de Saint-Simon; Madame Campan; Madame Roland; Prince de Talleyrand; Madame de Remusat, Madame Junot.

33—MEMOIRS OF EMINENT ENGLISH MEN AND WOMEN.
With special introductions by Andrew Lang, LL.D., and Edward Everett Hale. With illuminated frontispiece in color and gold and photogravure portrait of Andrew Lang, both on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50 COMPRISES: Memoirs of Earl of Clarendon; John Evelyn; Samuel Pepys; Grammont; Hamilton; Benjamin Franklin; Horace Walpole; Aaron Burr; Margaret Fuller Ossoli; John Heneage Jesse.

34—MEMOIRS OF EMINENT HISTORICAL PERSONAGES;
Also, in the same volume, Goethe's "Annals." Classic Memoirs. With a special introduction by Robert Arnot, M.A. Also Annals or Day and Year Papers. By J. W. Von Goethe. Translated by Charles Nisbet. With special introduction by Edward Dowden, LL.D. Illustrated with two photogravure plates on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50
The Memoirs include Charles V.; Frederick the Great; Catherine II.; Count de Mirabeau; Prince von Metternich. "The 'Annals' of Goethe is one of those Autobiographies that the world's literature could ill afford to lose."

35—FROISSART'S CHRONICLES, and Voltaire's Charles XII. Chronicles of England, France, Spain and the Adjoining Countries, from the latter part of the reign of Edward II to the Coronation of Henry IV. By Sir John Froissart. Translated from the French by Thomas Johnes. Also in the second volume, History of Charles XII. By Voltaire. Translated from the French by Tobias Smollett, M.D. With a special introduction by Justin McCarthy. Illustrated with full-page plates on Japan paper. 2 vols..... $7.00
"Even the readers of romance must be gratified and charmed with Frossart, for there is as much gallantry, love and adventure in the 'Chronicles' as in any romance, Don Quixote scarcely excepted." "Charles XII., the hero of Voltaire's narrative, is almost unique in the story of heroes in or out of romance."

36—DANTE'S DIVINE COMEDY.
Translated by Henry Francis Cary. With a special introduction by Charles Eliot Norton. With two full-page illustrations on Japan paper. 1 vol. $3.50
"The translation which, on Dante's name being mentioned, occurs first to the mind. To the ordinary Englishman no other will be as easy reading as Cary's, no one will seem so English."

37—TASSO'S JERUSALEM DELIVERED.
Translated by Edward Fairfax. Edited by Henry Morley, LL.D. Illustrated with a frontispiece portrait of Tasso in gold and colors and an illuminated plate in gold and colors from a 15th century miniature. 1 vol..... $3.50
"Torquato Tasso was a contemporary of our English Spenser and that great Italian poem 'Jerusalem Delivered' seemed to him as a link between the Orlando Furioso and his own Faerie Queene."

38—THE NIBELUNGENLIED.
Translated by William Nason Lettsom. With a special introduction by Wm. H. Carpenter, Ph.D. Illustrated with full-page photogravures on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50
A good library edition of the great national epic of Germany, one of the most important literary monuments that the German mind has produced in all periods of its history.

39—RANKE'S HISTORY OF THE POPES:
Their Church and State. Translated by E. Fowler, with a special introduction by William Clark, M.A. Illustrated with 12 full-page plates, including photogravure portraits and illuminated plates in gold and colors. 3 vols..... $10.50
"The period covered in Ranke's famous history is that of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, and it has been universally recognized as being both adequate and impartial. From the pen of a Protestant historian it is yet an impartial and graphic picture of the part of the Catholic Church in those times of strife and trouble."

40—MACHIAVELLI'S HISTORY OF FLORENCE:
From the Earliest Times to the Death of Lorenzo the Magnificent. With a special introduction by Charles W. Colby, M.A. Illustrated with portraits on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50
"One of those books which show how superior genius is to learning, and originality to research. . . . Machiavelli may be supplemented, he can never be superseded. . . . he comes first in modern critical history."—Prof. Colby.

41—JOWETT'S PLATO'S REPUBLIC.
The Republic of Plato: An Ideal Commonwealth. Translated by Benjamin Jowett, M.A. With a special introduction by Prof. William C. Lawton. Illustrated with full-page plates on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50
"Among classical authors Plato is second in importance to Homer only, if even to him. . . . In general, no thoughtful man or woman can turn to pages of the 'Republic' without infinite enrichment and widening of mental range. It has had a great influence on all later visions of ideal states."—Prof. Lawton.

42—HAMILTON'S "THE FEDERALIST."
A collection of Essays by Alexander Hamilton, John Jay and James Madison. Interpreting the Constitution of the United States as agreed upon by the Federal Convention, Sept. 17, 1787. With a special introduction by Goldwin Smith, D.C.L. Illustrated with full-page plates on Japan paper. 1 vol..... $3.50

According to Chancellor Kent, no constitution ever received a more masterly and successful vindication than that given by The Federalist to the one tendered to the people of the thirteen Colonies by the Federal Convention. Alexander Hamilton was the writer of sixty-three of the eighty-five numbers and joint author of three others.

43—IDEAL COMMONWEALTHS:
Comprising More's "Utopia," Bacon's "New Atlantis," Campanella's "City of the Sun" and Harrington's "Oceana." With introductions by Henry Morley, LL.D. With photogravure portrait of Sir Thomas More as a frontispiece and two full-page plates in facsimile, one illuminated in gold and colors. 1 vol..... $3.50

"Four famous books—all owing more or less to Plato in his 'Republic,' and each a study of that Ideal commonwealth which has been the dream of philosophers of all ages and of all countries."

THE ILLUSTRATIONS in these volumes comprise photogravures from famous paintings and classic sculpture, portraits of authors, mediaeval illuminations and palaeographic manuscripts, choice examples of early printing and engraving, etc., all being printed on Japan paper.

Each two or three volume set is put up in a neat box, and each complete work is offered separately at the low price of

* THE VALE PRESS

The following books are printed in the Vale type, which has been specially designed to accompany the Decorations and Illustrations, designed and cut on the wood by Charles Ricketts and other original engravers. The paper used for the Vale books is Arnold's Unbleached Hand-made with the Vale water-mark. The number printed for America of each of these books in no case exceeded one hundred copies. None of the Vale Press publications will ever be reprinted, and the Press ceased to exist with the publication of the last volume of the Plays of Shakespeare. The following is a list of the few copies that remain.

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES

Edited by A. O. J. KELLY, M. D.

Assistant Professor of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

MONTHLY. ILLUSTRATED. 1920 PAGES YEARLY. PRICE, FIVE DOLLARS.

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES, founded in 1820, has long been recognized not only as The American Journal, but also as the leading medical journal of the English-speaking people. From the time of its foundation it has sought the epoch-making papers, and becoming recognized as their medium, it has, in turn, been sought by those who have had discoveries or real advances to announce.

The plans for the year 1910 have been formulated with a view to enhance the value and widen the sphere of influence of The American Journal, to maintain it as the exponent of what is best in the clinical and scientific aspects of medicine. There will be a further development of the plan adopted during the last several years and much commended, namely, the publication of a series of Special Original Articles prepared by pre-arrangement by eminent teachers and practitioners on topics of present-day interest and practical importance. In addition, of course, there will be a large number of original articles selected by the editor from among those offered by leaders of the profession.

The Department of Book Reviews will continue to comprise critical and discriminating reviews of important new books, as well as briefer notices of books of less importance and of new editions. The free and impartial comment, the discriminating criticism, and the literary ability displayed by the corps of reviewers, who are selected on account of their special knowledge of the subjects on which they write, have won for this department a position second to none—in any language.

The Department of Progress of Medical Science, under the charge of trained and recognized specialists, will continue to summarize the actual advances in the art and science of medicine that are published in the leading medical periodicals of the world.

Thus, The American Journal offers its readers: (1) The new thought and experience of leaders in the profession; (2) a discriminating estimate of the value of important new books; and (3) the pith of actual advances from the best medical periodicals of the world. These are the three elements necessary to a complete and satisfactory medical magazine.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE

ELEVENTH YEAR, 1910

A Quarterly Digest of Advances, Discoveries and Improvements in all the Practical Branches of Medicine and Surgery

Edited by HOBART AMORY HARE, M.D.

Professor of Therapeutics, Jefferson Medical College, Phila., Physician to the Jefferson Hospital, etc.

Published in March, June, September and December.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE performs for the general practitioner, the surgeon and the specialist a most important service, bringing him knowledge which he could not otherwise obtain, either by his own efforts or in any other publication.

Most of the advances in medicine are first announced in periodicals, as the quickest means of publicity. Many of them would therefore be lost to the man who does not read several foreign languages. Herein lies the value of PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE. In its pages are found the advances announced in the leading medical journals of the world, costing one hundred times as much. Apart from the question of language, no practitioner could find the time to read even a small fraction of this vast mass.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE presents this information in epitome, and, in a logical narrative form, an original and connected statement of the real advances in all the practical branches. The authorities constituting its staff of contributors are actively engaged in practical work and embody the results of their own knowledge and experience.

Thus, the reader of PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE obtains the practical new ideas and advances of the whole world, presented in a form for immediate assimilation and use. Taken from year to year, it furnishes a connected and complete library of medical advance, carefully indexed for quick reference.

THE MODERN CRIMINAL SCIENCE SERIES

A series of Translations of the most important works of eminent continental authors on Criminal Science, chosen by a Committee appointed by Prof. JOHN H. WIGMORE of the Northwestern University, Chicago, President of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology

This series, issued under the supervision of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, furnishes a systematic and sufficient acquaintance with the controlling doctrines and methods regarding the individualization of present treatment and the study of the causes of crime that now hold the stage of thought in Continental Europe. The first two volumes in the series will be issued in 1910, the others will follow at the rate of two or three volumes yearly.

I. CRIMINAL PSYCHOLOGY. By HANS GROSS. Translated from the Fourth German Edition by Dr. HORACE M. KALLEN, Lecturer in Philosophy in Harvard University. With an American Preface by the Author, and an introduction by JOSEPH JASTROW, Professor of Psychology in the University of Wisconsin. 8vo. Cloth. $5.00 net. (1910.)

II. MODERN THEORIES OF CRIMINALITY. By C. BERNALDO DE QUIROS, of Madrid. Translated from the Second Spanish Edition by Dr. ALPHONSE DE SALVIO, Assistant Professor of Romance Languages in Northwestern University. With an American Preface by the Author, and an Introduction by W. W. SMITHERS, Esq., of Philadelphia. 8vo. Cloth. $4.00 net. (1910.)

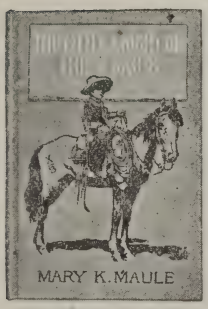
The Little Knight of the X Bar B

By MARY K. MAULE

Illustrated by MAYNARD DIXON $1.50



THIS story centres about a mysterious lad of gentle breeding who is brought to the X bar B ranch by the owner, whom no one dares question. He becomes the pet of the men in the most delightful comradeship, and, young as he is, infuses a spirit of chivalry into his rough yet tender friends from his recollection of stories of knightly days learned from his mother. It is only at the close of the book, when, as a well-grown young man he has been through many thrilling adventures, and seen all the phases of the picturesque life that is so rapidly passing away, that the mystery—by means of a bold and striking denouement—is cleared away. The author is a Western woman who knows her ground thoroughly. Her descriptions of the ranch and the prairie country are photographic in their reality, and her dialect and characters are those of real people, not stage settings. The story is so much out of the ordinary that hard must be the heart it cannot touch, and dull the mind it cannot interest.

The Arch-Satirist

By FRANCES DE WOLFE FENWICK

Frontispiece in color by CHARLES COPELAND

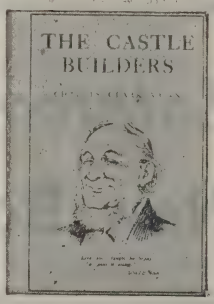
Color Wrapper $1.50

A STRIKING novel, with its scene laid in Montreal, but its truths belonging to society wherever found. It is filled with quaint humor and contains on many a page more pungent epigrams than are to be found in the entire length of the average novel. Yet it is tragedy masked in satire, in which Time, the Arch-Satirist, plucks the veil of illusion from the grim face of fact, and obliges us to see fact whether we will or no. In its epigrammatic and sparkling wit, and its keen psychological analysis and accurate character-drawing, it has the combined strength of many of the most noted successes in fiction. Once begun, it will be hard to lay down. Like it or dislike it, it is a live thing, instinct with pathos and humor.

By CHARLES CLARK MUNN

The Castle Builders

Illustrated by FRANK T. MERRILL $1.50



CHARLES CLARK MUNN has won his way to the hearts of the vast number of novel readers who still believe in the homely virtues of family devotion and business honor, who are moved by the majesty of Nature, scorn the artificial, and frankly enjoy an old-fashioned love story. The chief "castle builder" is a young man of brains, who not only dreams of a city where the story finds but a sleepy coast village, but who in a remarkably short time has his air castle well along towards a substantial form. In this he joins forces with "Uncle Asa" Webster, a rural philosopher of a personality as delightful as quaint, and the father of the heroine, the winning of whom bids fair to be a harder matter than securing power to turn his million spindles of the future. A leading charm of the book is the comradeship of "Uncle Asa" with his daughter, in as pure and deep an affection as any human relation can offer. In this, Mr. Munn, with all his popular successes, has risen higher than ever before.

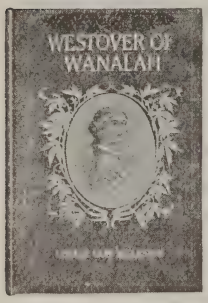
A Story of Love and Life in Old Virginia

Illustrated by EMIL POLLAK OTTENDORFF Decorated Cover $1.50



THIS is one of the best efforts of a great master of Southern romance. It deals with social and political conditions as they existed in ante-bellum Virginia, and shows the honor of a man under trying conditions, with the hero, who may rightly class himself as a gentleman in the best and highest sense of the word, triumphantly vindicated and rehabilitated. An important part is played by "Judy Peters," a singular female political boss in the mountain districts, who has appeared in a previous book, and is one of the most unique characters ever created in American fiction. Of course there is a love story, and a very charming one, with a heroine as well qualified to maintain the honor of a family true to the best traditions as is the exceptionally well presented hero.

Long Knives

A Story of George Rogers Clark's Expedition

THIS is a graphic narrative of adventure, based upon the romantic wonder-story of George Rogers Clark's truly Napoleonic conquest of all the region north of the Ohio for the struggling young American Republic. Some of the author's ancestors were soldiers under George Rogers Clark and legends handed down and learned by heart in his own family—legends which are in fact history—make practically all there is of fiction in the book.

When I Was a Boy in Japan

By SAKAE SHIOYA Illustrated from photographs 12mo $.75

THE author was born fifty miles from Tokio, and at the age of twelve began the study of English at a Methodist school. Later he studied Natural Science in the First Imperial College at Tokio, after which he taught English and Mathematics. He came to America in 1901, received the degree of Master of Arts at the University of Chicago, and took a two years' post-graduate course at Yale before returning to Japan. No one could be better qualified to introduce the Japanese to those in America, and he has done it in a way that will delight both children and parents.

When I Was a Girl in Italy

By MARIETTA AMBROSI 12mo Illustrated Price $.75

THE author, Marietta Ambrosi, was born in Tyrol, having an American-born mother of Italian descent, and a Veronese father. Her entire girlhood was spent in Brescia and other cities of Northern Italy, and in early womanhood she came with her family to America. Her story gives a most graphic account of the industries, social customs, dress, pleasures, and religious observances of the Italian common people, those who truly represent the life of a country.

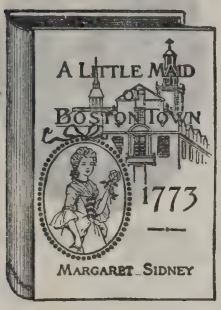
MARGARET SIDNEY—Continued

A Little Maid of Boston Town

Illustrated by FRANK T. MERRILL $1.50



IN no sense is this a sequel to "A Little Maid of Concord Town," although the time is the same, and some characters of the old Concord story re-appear in the later book. The opening chapters introduce us to old Boston in England. Margaret Sidney went there in 1907 and absorbed the atmosphere of Cotton Mather's "St. Botolph's Town," gathering for herself facts and traditions. Then "St. Botolph's Town" yields its scenic effects, and the setting of the story is changed to Boston Town of New England.

The story is absorbing, graphic, and truly delightful, carrying one along till it seems as if actual participation in the events had been the lot of the reader. The same faculty of delineation that produces naturalness in depicting life, that is so conspicuous in her famous "Pepper Books," marks this latest story of Margaret Sidney's. The author effaces herself and her art. She makes characters live and speak for themselves.

Dave Porter at Star Ranch

Or, The Cowboy's Secret

Sixth Volume of "Dave Porter Series"

IN this book Dave passes a summer vacation at a ranch in Colorado, owned by friends of his newly-found sister, Laura. Of course some of Dave's inseparable school friends are included, and highly interesting features developed from the fact that a neighboring ranch is owned by the father of Link Merwell, a vicious student with whom Dave and his honorable, gentlemanly comrades had come into natural conflict. Unexpected events and disclosures increase the interest.

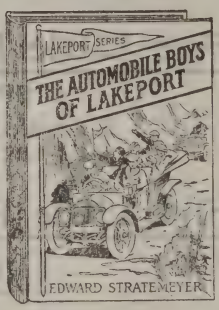
The Automobile Boys of Lakeport

Or A Run for Fun and Fame

Fifth Volume of the "Lakeport Series"



HERE is a book which will charm all boys who love automobiling and life in the open air. The author tells us in a manner that will please both young and old how the dauntless lads of Lakeport got their big touring car, how they went on a long trip through the mountains, and how they won a great race. Early in the story a mystery of a most peculiar nature is introduced, and this increases as the tale proceeds. There is likewise a thrilling ride down a steep mountain road, and the details of saving the costly automobile when the garage in which it was stored took fire. Some mean fellows were jealous because they did not own the car and once they decamped with it, carrying it on a flatboat to an island in a lake. Mr. Stratemeyer loves motoring himself and understands his subject thoroughly.

At the Home Plate

Second Volume of "Stories of the Triangular League" Illustrated by CHARLES COPELAND $1.25

THE scene of this book is at a public school, "Newbury," which seeks to win a prize cup held by its rival, "Westcott's," the winner during the first year of the "Triangular League." This is hard to accomplish, and an important factor is a new student who had to overcome the handicap of being the brother of an unpopular teacher. There is good baseball in this book, as its title indicates, but it is hardly more prominent than football and hockey, which in turn are simply features in a grand story of school life, with its unequalled trying-out of character and the elements of deserved respect and popularity, whether on the part of student or teacher.

The School Four First Volume of "Stories of the Triangular League"

FOOTBALL is no less prominent in the progress of the story than rowing, and both general school life and competitive relations with other schools are set forth to the life.

Following the Ball

HERE is an up-to-date story presenting American boarding-school life and modern athletics.

Making the Nine

THIS story is lively and worth telling, and the life presented is that of a real school, while the characters are true and consistent types of American boyhood and youth.

In the Line

"IN THE LINE" tells how a stalwart young student won his position at guard and made equally marked progress in the building of character.

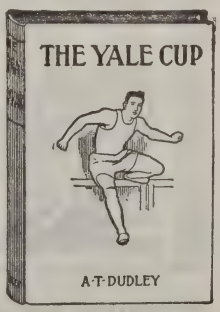
With Mask and Mitt

"WITH MASK AND MITT" continues the subject of baseball, although very much more than merely a baseball story.

The Great Year

AT Seaton Academy three fine, manly comrades, respectively captains of the football, baseball, and track and field athletic teams, make a compact to support each other in carrying through the really great responsibilities that devolve upon each.

The Yale Cup



THE "Cup" is an annual prize given by a club of Yale alumni to the member of the Senior class of each of several preparatory schools "who best combines proficiency in athletics with good standing in his studies."

A Full-Back Afloat

Being an Account of Dick Melvin's Vacation Voyage

DICK MELVIN is well remembered as the hero of the first volume of this series, "Following the Ball." At the close of his first year in college he is induced to earn a passage to Europe by helping on a cattle steamer.

Four Boys and a Fortune

Why They Went to England and What They Found

Fourth Volume of "Our Own Land Series"

ONE of the boys has learned of his inheritance of a part of a coal mine in England. His three friends accompany him on his voyage to the land that ever will be of interest to the people of the United States.

There is an abundance of action, adventure, and interest in the story. It is not a book of travels, although information and some descriptions of well-known places naturally enter into the tale. In spite of (perhaps because of) the plights, mishaps, and numerous adventures of the four boys, they had a good time, which every reader of the story of their experiences will share.

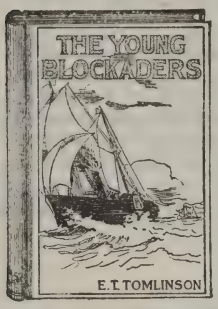
WAR FOR THE UNION SERIES

Illustrated $1.50 each

The Young Blockaders



Second Volume of "War for the Union Series"

THE part played by the blockade in bringing the Civil War to a close is one that is not clear to many who are more or less familiar with the battles and campaigns of the greatest conflict, of its kind, in history. And yet, when the "sinews of war" are cut, no matter how brave a people may be, to continue a war is impossible.

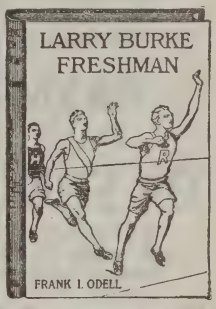
This story takes its readers into the midst of the blockading fleet. Without bitterness it portrays some of the daring deeds of each side in the struggle. Naturally, its incidents and adventures are based upon the daring attempts of the blockader and the blockade-runner to outwit each other. There is an abundance of action and excitement in the story, which is founded upon fact. Its readers will be interested and will obtain an insight into an important and comparatively unfamiliar phase of the "Irrepressible Conflict."

For The Stars and Stripes

First Volume of "War for the Union Series"

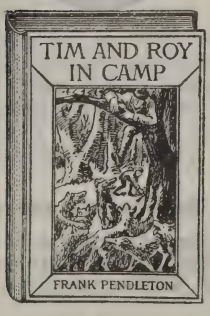
THIS story is based on true happenings, and the thread of it is the escape of a young Union soldier from a Southern prison. Graphically told incidents, true to fact, crowd each other. There are guerillas, prisons, campaigns, negroes, friends and enemies, loyal men and others, all parts of the tale. Above all, the book is interesting as well as intrinsically valuable, and the keynote to the series will be loyalty to a re-united country, in which sentiment those of all sections can heartily join.

Larry Burke, Freshman



By FRANK I. ODELL Illustrated by H. C. EDWARDS $1.25

THIS book bristles with activity: baseball, football, ice-hockey, basketball, track and field events, and a regatta appearing, and each sport brought in with expert accuracy of detail, and the realism that makes one live over his own most thrilling athletic experiences. Along with this is a charming narrative of student life and comradship—the golden days that have no others like them. Every boy and man who ever heard of a college can take delight in this book.



Tim and Roy in Camp

By FRANK PENDLETON Illustrated by J. W. KENNEDY Decorated Cover $1.50

IN this book is crowded a wealth of sport, adventure, Indian stories, hunting and camping, facts about animals encountered, and all that will please a boy's heart. A skilful hunter and trapper takes his son, nephew, and two close friends on such a hunting and camping trip as their most vivid imagination could not have improved upon. They are supremely happy in their enjoyment in all that pertains to the woods, and his camp-fire stories of experiences with Indians. Each of the boys has a chance to show his bravery and resourcefulness, and each is equal to the occasion. A safe, wholesome, and fascinating book.

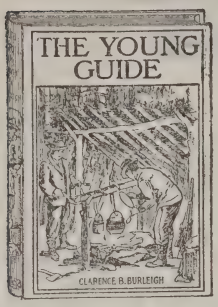
NORMAN CARVER SERIES

Illustrated $1.50 each



The Young Guide

Or, Two Live Boys in the Maine Woods

Third Volume of "Norman Carver Series"

IN "The Young Guide" one can see exactly what life in the Maine woods is during the height of the hunting season, and few need be told that there is no other life like it. In addition to the natural excitement of hunting, further adventures are supplied by a band of undesirable citizens who steal deer left hanging in the woods and sell them to "yarding crews." Norman Carver, and friend, Fred Warner, the "born woodsman," who wins laurels as a guide, are instrumental in having some of these villains brought to justice. Mr. Burleigh is unusually well qualified to write upon the themes which he selects, and can hold a reader's interest second to none. It is therefore no wonder that his books are gaining ground so fast.

With Pickpole and Peavey

Or Two Live Boys on the East Branch Drive

Second Volume of "Norman Carver Series"

NORMAN CARVER, having had a winter as clerk in a lumber camp, is given a somewhat similar position with a crew of river-drivers, and with him is his faithful friend, Fred Warner. The athletic, well-educated city boy and the earnest rural youth, "a born woodsman" as he is called, share in some very exciting adventures, and they bear themselves in a way that is a pleasure to read about.

All Among the Loggers

Or Norman Carver's Winter in a Lumber Camp

AN eventful winter in the deep woods of Maine does much for the hero. An important character and a good friend to Norman is "Mr. Collins," the "scaler," who in real life is "Bill" Sewall, the friend of ex-President Roosevelt, and also of the author.

RAYMOND BENSON SERIES

Illustrated $1.50 each

The Camp on Letter K

THIS book deals with two active boys in Aroostook County. Equally ready in athletics, hunting, or helping their families on the rich farms of that section, these good chums have many exciting adventures.

Raymond Benson at Krampton

"KRAMPTON" is really New Hampton, N. H. We have had good books telling of the more aristocratic preparatory schools, but never before one that so well told of life at a typical country academy of the sort that have furnished the inspiration for so many successful men.

The Kenton Pines

Or Raymond Benson at College

"KENTON COLLEGE" is Bowdoin College, beautiful in its location and famous in its history. Raymond's athletic abilities insure him immediate and enduring prominence as a student, and the accounts of athletic contests will stir the blood of any one.

Winning the Eagle Prize

Or The Pluck of Billy Hazen

THE hero not only works his way at Chatham Military School after his father's financial misfortune, but has the pluck to try for a prize which means a scholarship in college. It is very hard for a lad of his make-up to do the requisite studying, besides working and taking a prominent part in athletics, and he is often in trouble, for, unlike some others, who are naturally antagonistic to the frank, impulsive Billy, he scorns to evade responsibility. His four friends are loyal to the fullest extent, and all comes right in the end. A strong, manly book.

Winning His Shoulder Straps

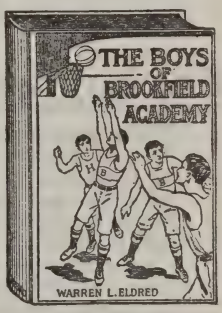
Or Bob Anderson at Chatham Military School

First volume of "Five Chums Series"

A ROUSING story of life in a military school by one who thoroughly knows all its features. Bob Anderson, the hero, is a good friend to tie to, and each of his four particular friends is a worthy companion, with well-sustained individuality. Athletics are plentifully featured, and every boy, good, bad, and indifferent, is a natural fellow, who talks and acts like a bright, up-to-date lad in real life.

By WARREN L. ELDRED

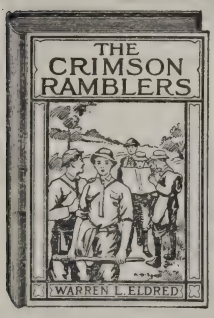
The Boys of Brookfield Academy



Illustrated $1.50

THIS story is distinctly worth while. It tells of a boys' school, with a glorious past, but an uncertain future, largely due to the wrong kind of a secret society, a vital problem in hundreds of schools to-day.

The boys, after testing his patience in every way that youthful ingenuity can suggest, come to rally about an athletic and brainy young graduate in the splendid transformation of the society, and soon of the entire academy, in one of the best school and athletic stories yet written.



The Crimson Ramblers

First Volume of "St. Dunstan Series" Illustrated $1.50

THIS is a story of jolly life at St. Dunstan's School, supposed to be in a village on the Hudson River. During an eventful school year, five close friends in the freshman class, and a teacher of the best sort, plan for a summer-vacation camp in Maine, and being encouraged in a fondness for that best of all exercises, walking, they adopt the name which gives the title to the book, and having gone to Boston by water, complete their journey on foot, with plenty of adventures along the way.

The Lookout Island Campers

Illustrated $1.50

THIS is a story of active boys of fifteen or so. They are very fortunate in the friendship of the principal of their school and his friend, an athletic young doctor. Under the care of these two they go into camp on an island where the boys display as many varieties of human nature as could their elders.

U. S. SERVICE SERIES

Profusely illustrated from photographs taken in work for U. S. Government Large 12mo Decorated cover $1.50 each

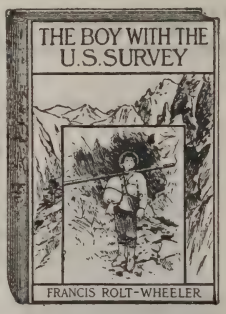
The Boy With the U. S. Foresters

"THE BOY WITH THE U. S. SURVEY" had not been published two weeks before it was evident that a series of books for boys had been entered upon which was to be as successful as it was excellent. Reviewers, parents, librarians, educators, and the boys themselves, with not a few of their elders, could and did unite in saying that here were to be books for the young that were, in many respects, to be in a class by themselves for original merit. The present book is equally worthy and interesting, dealing with a department of public work so much in the public eye. It covers five important lines of adventurous development:

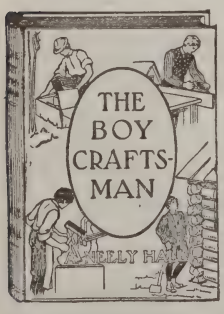
1. The prevention and fighting of forest fires.
2. The regulation of the grazing of cattle and sheep.
3. The preservation and disposition of lumber.
4. The wild ardor of the pursuit of big game.
5. The responsible life of the individual forester.

The life of a typical boy is followed in all its adventurous detail—the mighty representative of our country's government, though young in years—a youthful monarch in a vast domain of forest. Replete with information, alive with adventure, and inciting patriotism at every step, this handsome book is one to be instantly appreciated.

The Boy with the U. S. Survey



THIS story describes the thrilling adventures of members of the U.S. Geological Survey, not in the brief form of statistical reports and bluebooks, but graphically woven into a stirring narrative that both pleases and instructs. While the United States bureaus are not allowed to give their official endorsement to books, yet they are all eager to afford every facility to the author, and each manuscript is to be submitted to the chief of a bureau to insure accuracy of statement. These are the very books that will develop boys into well-informed and valuable citizens of these United States, alive to the needs of conservation of the vast resources and energies of their country.



The Boy Craftsman

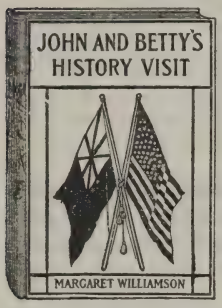
Practical and Profitable Ideas for a Boy's Leisure Hours

By A. NEELY HALL Illustrated with many diagrams and working drawings 8vo $2.00

EVERY real boy wishes to design and make things, but the question of materials and tools are often hard to get around. This book is the very best yet offered for its large number of practical and profitable ideas. A number of chapters give suggestions for carrying on a small business that will bring a boy in money with which to buy tools and materials necessary for making apparatus. No work of its class is so completely up-to-date or so worthy in point of thoroughness and avoidance of danger. The idea of economy is everywhere carried out, teaching a valuable lesson and commending the work to parents, who will more willingly buy a book that does not suggest a constant future drain on the purse.

John and Betty's History Visit

By MARGARET WILLIAMSON Twenty-four full-page illustrations from photographs Large 12mo $1.25



NOT every American boy and girl can learn the past and present of "our old home" in England in so delightful a way as do this brother and sister who are sent to England to be shown the leading places of historic interest in company with an English brother and sister of their own ages, and under the wise and sensible direction of the mother of the latter. But every one can enjoy reading of the jolly trips taken by the four children and Mrs. Pitt, the mother of English Philip and Barbara, who proves to be the best of entertainers and travelling companions, and the whole happy idea of the "history visit" is so well worked out that it is almost like travelling one's self; and a great deal of useful knowledge is gained in so pleasant a way that no one thinks he has been doing more than getting acquainted with some very nice young friends. The photographic illustrations are well chosen and excellent.

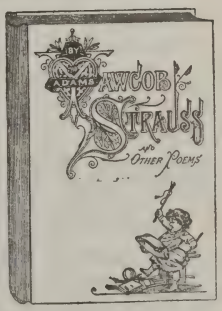
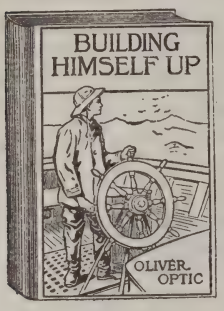
The Complete Poetical Works of CHARLES FOLLEN ADAMS Profusely illustrated with text and full-page cuts Price, net, $1.00 Postpaid, $1.10



WE now present in one handsome volume the complete poems of the creator of the immortal "Leedle Yawcob Strauss," having added such noted poems as "Der Long-Handled Dipper" and many others to those previously contained in "Leedle Yawcob Strauss" and "Dialect Ballads." The result is a very attractive gift-book, containing the most entertaining and famous German dialect poems ever written.

SIX NEW OLIVER OPTIC BOOKS

THESE stories appeared serially before the death of William T. Adams ("Oliver Optic"), but have never been issued in book form until the present season. They were written in the author's prime, and are examples of the very best work of that peerless entertainer of the young.



Excellent new illustrations by L. J. BRIDGMAN, LOUIS D. GOWING and LYLE T. HAMMOND. $1.00 each

Building Himself Up

ONE of two boys saved from the sea by a lightkeeper is kidnapped. His foster-brother pursues and captures the kidnappers, who prove to be smugglers, and able to solve the mystery of the parentage of the boys, of whom the leading spirit is heir to a fortune of which he proves himself worthy.

Lyon Hart's Heroism

THE hero loses father and mother by the foundering of a ship returning from Europe. He is "shanghaied" in port, but escapes by jumping overboard, and is rescued by a yachting party and given a home. Complications follow which try the boy's mettle to the utmost.

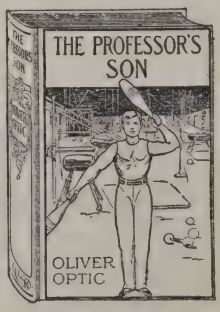
Louis Chiswick's Mission

"LOUIS CHISWICK" is no other than "Lyon Hart" of the previous book. He befriends a boy of his own age, and the two share in the exciting capture of some rebellious students who have camped on an island in the lake. The new boy tells his story, and the mystery surrounding the identity of our hero is apparently set at rest.

Royal Tarr's Pluck

THE hero of the previous book, discovering that another is the real "Louis Chiswick," returns to his old home in Maine as "Lyon Hart" once more. But he learns that he is in reality "Royal Tarr," and with the aid of his former foster-father, Colonel Chiswick, is able to secure justice for his real parent, gaining a fine property for the family.

The Professor's Son



A REFORMED pugilist, who continues to be known as "Professor," has trained his son in boxing, as well as other physical exercises, but taught him never to fight unless absolutely necessary, and for honorable reasons. Certain occasions of this sort come to the boy when thrown upon his own resources after the death of his father, and he acquits himself well.

Striving for His Own

THE hero accidentally opens a letter from England addressed to his supposed father, and learns startling things concerning himself. He resolutely starts for England in his chum's large yacht, and learns the facts of his parentage, and of the usurpation of estate and title that has made it expedient to keep him out of the way. More than this, the plucky boy compels the acknowledgment of his rights.

By ISABEL HORNIBROOK

From Keel to Kite

How Oakley Rose Became a Naval Architect

Illustrated by FRANK V. SMITH $1.50

THE story of an up-to-date boy who achieves his ambition against a head-wind of difficulty. Son of a Gloucester "skipper" lost on Georges, he is brought up by his grandfather, and inheriting a keen love of vessels, desires to become a naval architect. Obliged to leave high school, he goes to work in an Essex shipyard, hoping to obtain a practical knowledge of vessels. He studies naval architecture there in rainy intervals when ship-building is impossible, determining to grow as a fishing schooner does, from lowly green keel to topsail kite.

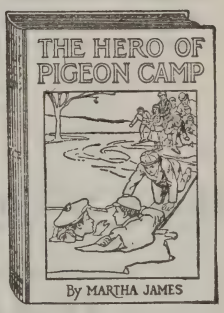
Camp and Trail

Illustrated $1.50

A STORY for boys and girls who delight in adventure. Two English boys with their friend, an American collegian, go into the woods of Maine to hunt deer and moose. But they never kill wantonly or for mere sport — only for food or in self-defence. They study the ways of the great game of the woods, and breathe in health, inspiration and noble thoughts with the odor of the pines and the air of lake and mountain.

By MARTHA JAMES

The Hero of Pigeon Camp



Or How Lucci Made Good

Third volume of "Pigeon Camp Series"
Illustrated $1.25

FOUR bright young schoolboys have a camp through the summer vacation on the shore of a fine lake, incidentally caring for the premises of an eccentric old man, absent on a long journey. One of the four, "Lucci," has been a waif, though well-born and of great artistic ability. He repays the kindness of his young friends by affectionate companionship, and proves himself a real hero when occasion comes.

By JEAN K. BAIRD

HESTER SERIES

Illustrated $1.25 each

Hester's Counterpart

Second Volume of "Hester Series"

HESTER becomes a pupil at a seminary in the suburbs of a small city. Her room-mate is Helen Loraine, for whom the other girls are continually mistaking her. Misunderstandings arise, and a reconciliation comes in a time of peril from flood. What transpires then adds the crowning interest to one of the season's ablest and best stories for girls.

The Coming of Hester

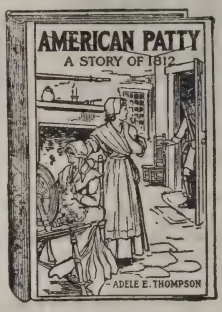
First Volume of "Hester Series"

HESTER comes as a mysterious waif to the home of a lone woman, still young, but who has settled down into a narrow life, which expands as the child rapidly develops into mature girlhood. The principal part of the story, in fact, takes place when Hester has reached high school age.

By ADELE E. THOMPSON

BRAVE HEART SERIES

Illustrated $1.25 each



American Patty

A Story of 1812

Fifth Volume of "Brave Heart Series"

PATTY is a brave, winsome girl of sixteen whose family have settled across the Canadian border and are living in peace and prosperity. All this is suddenly changed by the breaking out of war, and unwillingness on the part of her father and brother to serve against their native land brings distress and deadly peril. There is need of such books to show what has been endured to make our country possible.

PREVIOUS VOLUMES

Betty Seldon, Patriot

HISTORICAL events are accurately traced leading up to the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, with reunion and happiness for all who deserve it.

Brave Heart Elizabeth

A Story of the Ohio Frontier

THIS is a book for older girls, and in strength ranks with the best fiction of the year. It is a story of the making of the Ohio frontier.

A Lassie of the Isles

THE romantic story of Flora Macdonald, the lassie of Skye, who aided in the escape of Charles Stuart, otherwise known as the "Young Pretender," affords a notable theme.

Polly of the Pines

A Patriot Girl of the Carolinas

"POLLY OF THE PINES" was Mary Dunning, a brave girl of the Carolinas, and the events of the story occur in the years 1775–82.

Beck's Fortune

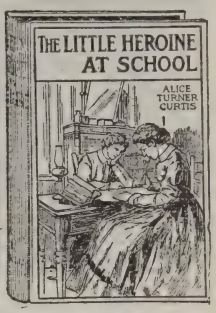
A Story of School and Seminary Life

THE account of Beck's narrow and cheerless early life, her sprightly independence, and unexpected competency that aids her to progress through the medium of seminary life to noble womanhood, is one that mothers can commend to their daughters unreservedly.

By ALICE TURNER CURTIS

The Little Heroine at School

Second Volume of "Little Heroine Series" Illustrated $1.25



HAPPY Edith Austin, the "Little Heroine of Illinois," is sent to a girls' school in the suburbs of Boston, where she enjoys all the good times, learns many valuable lessons, makes friends, and, best of all, discovers that she is not a waif without relatives, but has cousins of whom she can be justly proud, and who are equally glad to acknowledge her. It is a complete story in itself, with a well-defined plot, and including many delightful incidents, as well as suggestions in regard to entertainments for school-girls, and shows a steady development of character which makes Edith and her schoolmates valuable acquaintances for girls of twelve and fourteen.

A Little Heroine of Illinois

First Volume of "Little Heroine Series"
Illustrated $1.25

THIS genuinely good story for little girls, with plenty of interest for boys also, tells of the early days of the Civil War, when it was very doubtful how portions of States adjoining the line of division would stand when the final test came. This little girl has the opportunity to render a service of greatest importance to the cause of the Union, and by rare discretion and physical courage and endurance is equal to the occasion. A sensible and entirely pleasing story of a time now passed into history, in which even children bore their part, and which children of this day will enjoy and ought to read.

Mother Tucker's Seven

By ANGELINA W. WRAY

Illustrated by ELIZABETH WITHINGTON Large 12mo $1.25

HERE is a story that appeals to one instantly, and which contains the same elements that have made the famous "Pepper Books" the success that they are, the merry, active life of a loving family forced to find pleasure in most economical ways, but never letting it prevent very great happiness in each other, and the resolute overcoming of obstacles. "Mother Tucker" is the refined, delicate widow of a country clergyman who has lost his life in an act of heroism, and the seven children are of varying ages, but all are busy and cheery. How the boys plan to earn money, how love for her own family proves stronger than the attraction of wealth to pretty Molly, and what even little Martha can do, must be read to be appreciated, and one need not be ashamed of wet eyes when "Merry" wins a prize on a piece written in secret by her kind oldest sister. They deserve every bit of the good fortune that comes to them.

Kitty-Cat Tales

By ALICE VAN LEER CARRICK

Profusely illustrated by HOMER EATON KEYES $1.00

THIS might have been called a "Kitten's Arabian Nights," for the author most ingeniously makes use of a pet black kitten in the telling of the finest group of standard cat legends from various nations that have ever been grouped together.

By NINA RHOADES

THE "BRICK HOUSE BOOKS"

Illustrated $1.00 each

The Other Sylvia

Ninth Volume of the "Brick House Books"

EIGHT-year-old Sylvia learns that girls who are "Kings' Daughters" pledge themselves to some kind act or service, and that one little girl named Mary has taken it upon herself to be helpful to all the Marys of her acquaintance. This is such an interesting way of doing good that she adopts it in spite of her unusual name, and really finds not only "the other Sylvia," but great happiness.

Brave Little Peggy

PEGGY is so democratic in her social ideas that many amusing scenes occur, and it is hard for her to understand many things that she must learn. But her good heart carries her through, and her moral courage wins affection.

Priscilla of the Doll Shop

THE "Brick House Books" are eagerly sought by children all over the country. The mere statement that in this book Miss Rhoades has equalled the interest of the other books will be sufficient.

Little Miss Rosamond

ROSAMOND is found in Richmond, Va., with her good big brother. She goes to the seaside cottage of an uncle whose home is in New York. Here it is her good fortune to find herself a neighbor to Gladys and Joy, so well known in a previous book, "The Little Girl Next Door."

How Barbara Kept Her Promise

TWO orphan sisters, Barbara, aged twelve, and little Hazel, who is "only eight," are sent from their early homes in London, to their mother's family in New York. Faithful Barbara has promised her father that she will take care of pretty, petted Hazel, and how she tries to do this forms the story which has a happy ending.

The Children on the Top Floor

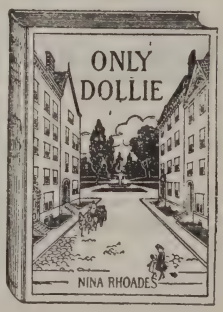
IN this book little Winifred Hamilton, the child heroine of "Winifred's Neighbors," reappears, living in the second of the four stories of a New York apartment-house. On the top floor are two very interesting children. In the end comes a glad reunion, and Winifred's kind heart has once more caused happiness to many others.

Winifred's Neighbors

LITTLE Winifred's efforts to find some children of whom she reads in a book lead to the acquaintance of a neighbor of the same name, and this acquaintance proves of the greatest importance to Winifred's own family.

The Little Girl Next Door

A DELIGHTFUL story of true and genuine friendship between an impulsive little girl in a fine New York home and a little blind girl in an apartment next door.



Only Dollie

THIS is a brightly written story of a girl of twelve who, when the mystery of her birth is solved, like Cinderella passes from drudgery to better circumstances.

Dorothy Brown A Story for Girls

By NINA RHOADES Illustrated by ELIZABETH WITHINGTON Large 12mo $1.50

THIS is considerably longer than the other books by this favorite writer, and with a more elaborate plot, but it has the same winsome quality throughout. It introduces the heroine in New York as a little girl of eight, but soon passes over six years and finds her at a select family boarding-school in Connecticut. An important part of the story also takes place at the Profile House in the White Mountains. The charm of school-girl friendship is finely brought out, and the kindness of heart, good sense and good taste which find constant expression in the books by Miss Rhoades do not lack for characters to show these best of qualities by their lives. Other less admirable persons of course appear to furnish the alluring mystery which is not all cleared up until the very last. The great number of "Brick House Book" readers who will want this book will find their interest materially increased by the reappearance of a number of favorite characters in other books, and its success is assured from the first.

Marion's Vacation

By NINA RHOADES Illustrated by BERTHA G. DAVIDSON $1.25

THIS is for rather older girls than the famous "Brick House Books," Marion being thirteen. She has for ten years enjoyed a luxurious home in New York with the kind lady who feels that the time has now come for this aristocratic though lovable little miss to know her own nearest kindred, who are humble but most excellent farming people in a pretty Vermont village. Thither Marion is sent for a summer, which proves to be a most important one to her in all its lessons.

A Little Prospector

By EDITH M. H. BAYLOR

Twenty-four illustrations from photographs Decorated cover $1.00

THIS little pioneer is a real boy and the story is based on what the bright little fellow actually did and experienced during the residence of his parents in the mining districts of Nevada. In connection with many adventures, a fine account of a most interesting and not very well known region is given, and told in a way that will win the eager attention of children.

Fifty Flower Friends With Familiar Faces

By EDITH DUNHAM

A FIELD BOOK FOR BOYS AND GIRLS With twelve full-page colored plates, decorations and fifty text illustrations from nature by W. I. BEECROFT $1.50

CHILDREN cannot too soon begin to know the wild flowers, and here they are told in a charming way where and when to look for each of fifty widely distributed common flowering plants; also how they get their names, and how to know them from the remarkably accurate drawings of Mr. Beecroft, a skilled botanist and superior artist. Each of the fifty flowers has a page of accurate botanical description in addition to its story. Thus the book is suited for varying ages.

By AMY BROOKS

THE PRUE BOOKS

Illustrated by the Author Large 12mo $1.00 each

Prue's Playmates

ONE of the brightest and most attractive of all books for young children. Boys can enjoy it as well as girls, for one of the most appealing parts of the book deals with "Hi Babson," the mistaken boy who thought joining a circus would be easier than "doing chores." To know Prue is to love her.

Prue at School

Second Volume of "The Prue Books"

LITTLE PRUE is a favorite at school and we cannot wonder that she is.

Little Sister Prue

First Volume of "The Prue Books"

CUNNING little Prue is one of the most winsome little girls ever "put in a book."

THE RANDY BOOKS

Illustrated by the Author $1.00 each

Randy's Summer

"IT is refreshing to turn from juvenile war books and startling stories with sensational plots to a pleasing, wholesome tale of genuine girl life."—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

Randy's Winter

Randy and Her Friends

THIS tells of both Randy herself, and little Prue, who is as ready as ever with most unexpected sayings and doings.

Randy and Prue

RANDY, after enjoying her school life at the city, devotedly assumes the care of housekeeping that her mother may regain her health.

Randy's Good Times

RANDY is the same loving and lovable girl that she was when first seen in "Randy's Summer."

Randy's Luck

RANDY'S power for winning and holding friends is so marked that some envious companions in the country village where her home is say that it is simply Randy's "luck."

Randy's Loyalty

LOYALTY to her family leads Randy to give up a most alluring invitation, and loyalty to her friends finds exercise in tactfully restraining the envious spirits of those who are rivals for her favor.

Randy's Prince

RANDY must make the choice which most deeply concerns her future happiness, but so honest and maidenly is she that not until the very end does she allow her heart to make known who is "Randy's Prince."

TRADE-MARK
Reg. in U. S. Patent Office

By AMY BROOKS

DOROTHY DAINTY SERIES

Illustrated by the Author $1.00 each

Dorothy Dainty's Winter

Ninth Volume of the "Dorothy Dainty Series"

DOROTHY DAINTY is one of the best known little girls in the United States, and she never loses any of the new friends that she is constantly making. After the gay times of summer were over, the winter was passed in the fine stone house, which was the family's country home. Dorothy and all her little friends resumed their studies at the school conducted by "Aunt Charlotte," and were, as always, trained unconsciously in kindness and good taste as well as in set lessons.

Dorothy Dainty in the Country

Eighth Volume of "Dorothy Dainty Series"

ONE heartily agrees with a guest at the same hotel who says that if there were more children like Dorothy and Nancy, it would be a pleasure to have them around.

Dorothy Dainty's Gay Times

Seventh Volume of "Dorothy Dainty Series"

DOROTHY is at her beautiful home in the "great stone house," and with her mates is enjoying more than ever the little home school so carefully conducted by "Aunt Charlotte."

The Girl Who Kept Up

By MARY MCCRAE CULTER Illustrated $1.25

A STRONG and wholesome story of achievement. It tells how a girl high-school graduate determines to and does keep up with her boy friend and rival who enjoys a college course which she is denied.

Madge: a Girl in Earnest

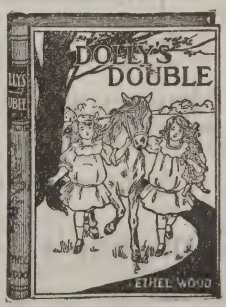
By S. JENNIE SMITH Illustrated $1.25

MADGE scorns the patronage of an aristocratic relative, and successfully takes upon her strong young shoulders the problem of carrying along the family in an independent manner.

Dolly's Double

By ETHEL WOOD Illustrated $1.00

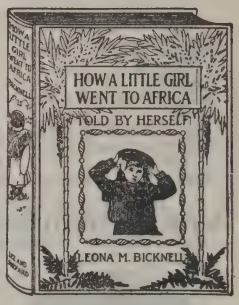
IN this charming little book, two girls, Dolly and Isabelle, have such striking resemblance that they can hardly be told apart. They are not supposed to be related, but they live together, and later, by the clearing up of a mystery, it appears that they are really sisters. They have lots of pleasant times and doings at the seaside, and the children will enjoy the naturalness and vivacity of the tale.



How a Little Girl Went to Africa

Told by Herself

By LEONA MILDRED BICKNELL
Fully Illustrated from photographs $1.00



IN simple style the little author tells with remarkable descriptive power of the Atlantic voyage, the sights in London, the longer voyage to Cape Town, the residence and travels among strange and singular peoples, and the return. So well is the work done that a noted author of geographies has recommended the work for all school libraries.

Rover's Story

The Autobiography of a Dog

By HELENA HIGGINBOTHAM Illustrated $1.00

ROVER, a real dog, by the way, is made to tell his own story most entertainingly. The book has more than entertainment, however; it is one which should be read by every one having to do with dogs or cats, for the sake of the better understanding of those pets.

An Honor Girl

By EVELYN RAYMOND Illustrated $1.25

A BRIGHT helpful story of a girl who, as the valedictorian and "honor girl" of her class at high school, wins the scholarship which would take her through Wellesley College.

A Girl of This Century

By MARY G. DARLING Illustrated $1.25

"WE FOUR GIRLS" at once took its place among the very best books for older girls. The same characters are retained in this story, the interest centring around "Marjorie," the natural leader of the four. She has a brilliant course at Radcliffe, and then comes the world.

We Four Girls

By MARY G. DARLING Illustrated $1.25

A BRIGHT story of a summer vacation in the country, where these girls were sent for study and recreation.

The Frolicsome Four

By EDITH L. and ARIADNE GILBERT Illustrated $1.00

THE authors have drawn wholesome child life with remarkable effect. Every one will be interested in the fine scholarship of Larry, the jolly spirits of Gwen, and the tenderness of little Polly. And when finally Billy, well-meaning and awkward Billy, actually wins a prize in a most unexpected way, the charm of the story is complete.

Hortense

By EDNA A. FOSTER Illustrated $1.00

THE impulsive little Hortense wins the reader's sympathy at once.

Cordelia's Pathway Out

By EDNA A. FOSTER Illustrated $1.00

THE success of the quiet and earnest Cordelia cultivates a desire for growth.

By ANNIE M. BARNES

Little Betty Blew

Her Strange Experience and Adventures in Indian Land

Illustrated $1.25

ONE of the very best books with which to satisfy a young reader's natural desire for an "Indian story" is this one of little Betty Blew, and what she saw and experienced when her family removed from Dorchester, Mass., two hundred years ago, to their home on the Ashley river, above Charleston, South Carolina.

A Lass of Dorchester Illustrated $1.25

THE place and time of this excellent historical story are the Province of Carolina and the year 1702. The "Lass" is "Miss Elizabeth Blew" of a former book, now grown up and just returned from Boston, where she has been to finish her education.

The Laurel Token Illustrated $1.25

THE story centres about a beautiful girl, left an orphan, as is supposed, in Barbadoes, who goes to live with her uncle, a leading man in the flourishing "Goose Creek" colony, in the year of the Indian uprising, 1714.

The Scarlet Patch

By MARY E. Q. BRUSH Illustrated $1.25

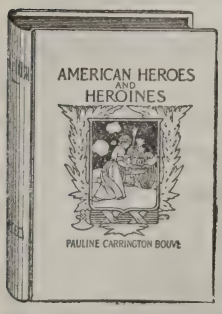
"THE SCARLET PATCH" was the badge of a Tory organization, and a loyal patriot boy, Donald Bastien, is dismayed at learning that his uncle, with whom he is a "bound boy," is secretly connected with this treacherous band. Thrilling scenes follow in which a faithful Indian figures prominently, and there is a vivid presentation of the school and home life.

Stories of Brave Old Times

Some Pen Pictures of Scenes Which Took Place Previous to, or Connected With, the American Revolution

By HELEN M. CLEVELAND Illustrated $1.25

A few unsigned articles in "Youth's Companion" first attracted attention to Miss Cleveland as a portrayer of the dramatic in history. The late Daniel Ford said of them, "Fresh, vigorous, dramatic, and picturesque." These words most aptly describe her riper work in this book. Perhaps no other book yet written sets the great cost of freedom so clearly before the young, consequently is such a spur to patriotism.

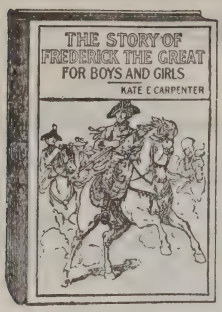


American Heroes and Heroines

For Boys and Girls

By PAULINE CARRINGTON BOUVÉ Illustrated $1.25

THIS book, which will tend directly toward the making of patriotism in young Americans, contains some twenty brief, clever and attractive sketches of famous men and women in American history, among them Father Marquette, Anne Hutchinson, Israel Putnam, Molly Pitcher, Paul Jones, Dolly Madison, Daniel Boone, etc. Mrs. Bouvé is well known as a writer both of fiction and history, and her work in this case is admirable.



The Story of Frederick the Great For Boys and Girls

By KATE E. CARPENTER Illustrated from Famous Paintings $1.00

FREDERICK the Great will always be one of the heroes of history, and a very interesting part of his career is his unusual childhood, under the rule of one of the sternest fathers that a boy ever had. Told in the pleasing style which has made Mrs. Carpenter's "Story of Joan of Arc" so continuously popular.

The Story of Joan of Arc For Boys and Girls

By KATE E. CARPENTER Illustrated from Famous Paintings $1.00

THE favorite story of Joan of Arc is here treated in a uniquely attractive way. "Aunt Kate" tells the story to Master Harold, age 11, and to Misses Bessie and Marjorie, age 10 and 8.

A Boy of a Thousand Years Ago

By HARRIET T. COMSTOCK Illustrated $1.00

IT will at once be understood that the "boy" of the story is Alfred the Great in his youth, but it cannot be understood how delightful a story this is until it is seen and read.

Famous Children

By H. TWITCHELL Illustrated $1.25

WE have here a most valuable book, telling not of the childhood of those who have afterwards become famous, but those who as children are famous in history, song, and story.

Jason's Quest

By D. O. S. LOWELL, A.M., Head Master in Roxbury Latin School Illustrated $1.00

NOTHING can be better to arouse the imagination of boys and girls than Professor Lowell's way of telling how the fabled Argonauts sought and secured the Golden Fleece.

Through Thick and Thin

By MOLLY ELLIOT SEAWELL Illustrated $1.50

A STORY of heroic incidents on land and sea in the Civil War

The Little Citizen

By MARY E. WALLER Author of "The Wood-Carver of 'Lympus" Illustrated by H. Burgess $1.25

HOW a waif of New York developed in the wholesome life of a Vermont farm neighborhood.

Two Little Street Singers

By NORA A. M. ROE (Mrs. Alfred S. Roe) Illustrated $1.00

WE have no sweeter story than this, of two waifs, a mystery, and a happy conclusion.

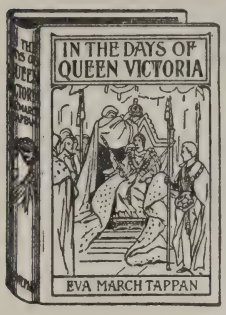
The Mutineers

By EUSTACE L. WILLIAMS Illustrated $1.25

THIS book gives a picture of life in a large boarding-school, where a certain set of boys control the athletics, and shows how their unjust power is broken by the hero of the tale.

THE MAKERS OF ENGLAND SERIES

In the Days of Queen Victoria



Fourth volume of "Makers of England Series," by EVA MARCH TAPPAN, PH.D. Illustrated from famous paintings and portraits 12mo Cloth $1.00

IT is unnecessary to devote words of praise to the historical work of Dr. Tappan for the young, as her prominence in this line is too well established to need mention. The present book completes a series of four that will remain standard, and will undoubtedly be the most popular of all, owing to the fresh remembrance of its honored subject. The noble ruler, who will always be remembered for her "queenliness as a woman and her womanliness as a queen," is written of in a way that will bring satisfaction to all who love her memory.

In the Days of Queen Elizabeth

Third volume of "Makers of England Series," by EVA MARCH TAPPAN, PH.D. Illustrated from famous paintings 12mo Cloth $1.00

DR. TAPPAN'S historical works have already become classics for the young, and well do they deserve it, with their entertaining descriptions, perfect English, and historical value.

In the Days of William the Conqueror

Second volume of "Makers of England Series," by EVA MARCH TAPPAN, PH.D. 12mo Cloth With spirited illustrations by J. W. KENNEDY 300 pages $1.00

MISS TAPPAN came to the front with "In the Days of Alfred the Great," a book widely reviewed without a single derogatory word, and pronounced one of the few books for the young that have a right to be considered literature. This book has the same historical accuracy and fascination of style, applied to a no less interesting subject.

In the Days of Alfred the Great

First volume of "Makers of England Series," by EVA MARCH TAPPAN, PH.D. Cloth Emblematic cover Fully illustrated $1.00

WE have never issued a more generally excellent work for the young than this, with the old familiar stories, together with very much new material, translated from original sources by the author.

BY MARY E. WILKINS

Once Upon a Time and Other Child Verses

Illustrated $1.00

HERE are fairy stories, ballads, nursery rhymes, jingles, everything, in fact that a verse-loving child will enjoy. They are delicious in fancy, musical in rhythm, perfect in literary skill, deftly and charmingly illustrated by one in sympathy with the singer.

The Pot of Gold

Illustrated 12mo Cloth $1.50

SIXTEEN delightful stories by this famous and favorite author, written for young people, but interesting to older readers. "The Bound Girl" and "Deacon Thomas Wales's Will" tell of early New England life; the others are full of delicious fun and quaint imaginings.

In Colonial Times

In addition, the editor has grouped fugitive selections like the immortal "Spartacus" and "Regulus," together with some of his excellent verse and one or two representative discourses.

BY HENRY WOOD

The New Old Healing

$1.20 net Postpaid, $1.30

IN this important and timely book Mr. Wood discusses the so-called "new" religious healing movement and shows clearly that it is but the putting to use of thought-forces, knowledge of which has existed from the remotest times. The book is arranged by "Topics" instead of chapters and is thus a series of articles, each suitable for one reading, yet all having to do with our ability to make the most of ourselves through a better understanding of the power of mind over matter. It is entirely calm and judicial in its tone, and its freedom from technicalities enables it to be profitable reading for any one.

NEW ILLUSTRATED EDITION OF THE WORKS OF THOMAS BULFINCH

EDITED BY REV. EDWARD EVERETT HALE

Three volumes Crown 8vo Each profusely illustrated Reduced price per volume $1.25

CHARLES W. ELIOT, President of Harvard University, says:—"Mr. Bulfinch's three volumes on Mythology are delightful books, and full of interest and instruction for both old and young. I trust that they will have for many years to come a widespread circulation, for they are thoroughly wholesome books."

The Age of Fable

Or Beauties of Mythology

THE educational value of this work cannot be over-estimated, as it enables the student, by means of the text and illustrations, to enter into the mythological conceptions of antiquity, and prepares him to interpret and enjoy the works of the masters of art as well as the classical allusions of which our best modern literature is full.

The Age of Chivalry

Or Legends of King Arthur, Stories of the Round Table, The Crusades, Robin Hood, etc.

IN the introduction the author gives an outline of the condition of Europe after the decline of the Roman Empire, showing the origin and purpose of chivalry, and explaining all things necessary to be known to give one a clear and distinct idea of the feats of the Knights of the Round Table, and whatever pertains to that remarkable period.

Legends of Charlemagne

Or Romance of the Middle Ages Stories of Paladin and Saracen

With introduction by ARTHUR RICHMOND MARSH, Assistant Professor of Comparative Literature in Harvard University

"THESE stories of the second Age of Fable, the age which witnessed the dawn of the several states of modern Europe," were but little known even by the liberally educated, and were not available before the publication of these volumes. They have become absolutely necessary to an appreciation of what is best in modern literature.

MISS AYER'S remarkably wide reading, rare power of selection, brave optimism, and unfailing good taste which have enabled her to cheer and comfort so many with her former books, have never been shown to greater advantage than in this choice collection of gems of inspiring thought.

Heart Melodies

Boxed $1.00, net Postpaid, $1.10 Edition de Luxe Full leather $2.00, net Postpaid, $2.10

MISS AYER'S wide research, excellent taste, and unusual intuition in choosing gems of thought in prose and verse that cheer, encourage, and uplift, have become known throughout the country.

The Joys of Friendship

$1.00, net $1.10, postpaid Edition de Luxe Full leather $2.00, net Postpaid, $2.10

NO joys on earth outrank those of friendship. The apt title, the merit of its selections, with its dainty forget-me-not decoration, make it an ideal token to pass from friend to friend.

Daily Cheer Year Book

Helps by the Way

Compiled by MARTHA S. HUSSEY and SARAH W. WILSON Introduction by Rev. Phillips Brooks, D.D. 16mo Plain, $.75 White and gold, $1.00.

A TEXT of Scripture, a few words from some English prose writer, and a short piece of poetry are given for every day in the year.

New Every Morning

A Year Book for Girls

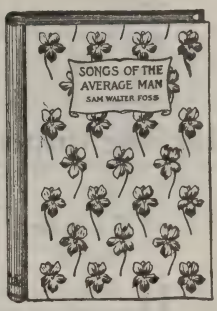
Edited by ANNIE H. RYDER 16mo $.75 White and gold, $1.00

"THERE is a happy blending of practical common sense, pure sentiment, and simple religious fervor."
Choice reading for every day in the year.

By SAM WALTER FOSS

Songs of the Average Man

Illustrated by MERLE JOHNSON
Gilt Top Boxed $1.50



SAM WALTER FOSS is, more than any other of his time, the true poet of the people, and his personally chosen title for his new volume fitly characterizes a book of verse that will be instantly appreciated by the sound and wholesome people who actually do the world's work, who love poetry of music, feeling and sense, but have neither time nor inclination for society verse or sensational rhapsodies, and no patience with poems that require a university lecturer to interpret them.

Songs of War and Peace

Gilt Top Boxed $1.50

"THERE is an inspiration breathing through the lines of Mr. Foss' verse that appeals to all."

Dreams in Homespun

Gilt Top Boxed $1.50

"THE same characteristics that distinguished his previous volumes are generally observable throughout this one. The humorous element is seldom long lacking from Mr. Foss' verse, and there is usually a trace of philosophy behind the humor."

Whiffs from Wild Meadows

Illustrated Gilt Top Boxed $1.50

"MR. FOSS' work is marked by every-day common-sense, good-natured satire, and above all, genuine human sympathy."

Back Country Poems

Illustrated Gilt Top Boxed $1.50

"OF all the poems published for a long time none deserve warmer praise and more careful reading than the delightful songs that make up this quaint and natural book."

Baby's Kingdom

Wherein may be chronicled as Memories for Grown-up Days the Mother's Story of the Progress of the Baby.

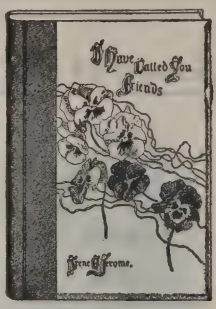
Designed and illustrated by ANNIE F. COX Oblong quarto Blue and white, gilt edges $3.00 Turkey morocco $9.00

The Guest Book

IN which may be recorded the Coming and Going of Guests, with pages for Autographs, Incidents, and Sketches pertaining to Pleasant Visits, Social Circles, and other gatherings.

Invented and illustrated by ANNIE F. COX Printed in colors Cloth and gold Gilt edges $3.75

I Have Called You Friends



By IRENE E. JEROME Boxed $2.00

THE text is clearly engraved in Old English, and each page is, as it were, framed in an artistic design, in which the graces of form, with lines or disks of chaste gilding, and flowers in lovely colors, make a picture of glowing harmony, like the frontispiece of an illuminated missal.

Loving Imprints

The Mother's Album

Compiled by Mrs. THERESE GOULSTON Quarto Emblematic-cover Boxed $2.00

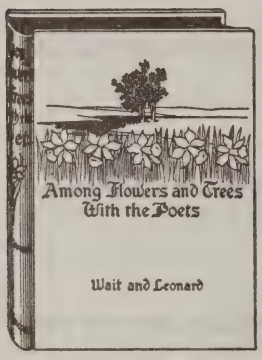
BLANK forms are here given for a complete family record for six generations, together with forms for record of births, deaths, marriages, etc., as well as for journeys and meetings with distinguished persons.

The Annals of My College Life

Wherein may be recorded the Bright Features of Student Days

Designed and illustrated by FRANCES FREIOT GILBERT 4to $1.50

EVERY college and boarding-school girl will like this.



Among Flowers and Trees with Poets

Or the Plant Kingdom in Verse A Practical Cyclopedia for all Lovers of Flowers

Compiled and arranged by MINNIE CURTIS WAIT and Prof. MERTON CHANNING LEONARD Illustrated $1.00

THIS beautiful and valuable book appeals to all lovers of nature and literature. The choicest poems in our language descriptive of the floral kingdom are arranged according to alphabetical order of plants described by the poets.

Through the Year with Birds and Poets

Compiled by SARAH WILLIAMS Illustrated $1.00

A SPLENDID collection of the best American poems relating to birds, classified according to the seasons of the year, and subdivided by months, each division being introduced by an illustrated page appropriate to the time of year. Fine drawings of our best-known birds add richness and value to the work.

The Wedding Day Book

A Bridal Gift

Arranged by KATHARINE LEE BATES With photogravure illustrations from famous paintings Gilt top $1.50 White and gold $2.00

The Mother's Record

By Mrs. MARION VAUGHN To keep note of the Physical, Mental and Moral growth of the child for the first fifteen years $1.00

TRIED and tested by long experience, this book stands at the head of helps and memory books for mothers.

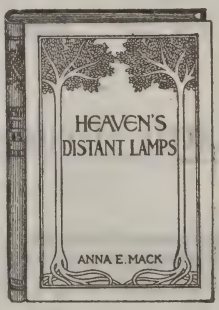
"FOR SWEETHEART OR FRIEND"

Because I Love You

A CHOICE COLLECTION OF LOVE POEMS Edited by ANNA E. MACK White and Gold $1.50 Full Leather $2.50

"WHAT lover is there who will not welcome the beautiful little white and gold volume of love verses edited by Anna E. Mack, under the satisfying title 'Because I Love You'? Love is ever an excuse for right or wrong doing, but in this case the result is so beautiful that no excuse is needed. Miss Mack has selected with discriminating taste some of the sweetest, tenderest lines in our literature, all dealing with the one imperishable subject. The authors from whose works these selections are culled include all the best-known writers, and in addition to the old familiar names, a number of new ones make this book fresher than most anthologies."— Cincinnati Tribune

Heaven's Distant Lamps



Poems of Comfort and Hope

Arranged by ANNA E. MACK White and gold Gilt top $1.50

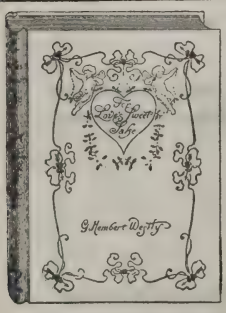
WE have here the finest collection of poems of comfort, sympathy, and devotion ever attempted, and one that it would seem impossible to improve upon. Miss Mack has had to perform a vast amount of labor in choosing these selections, and the result is a noble storehouse of trust and cheer presented by the greatest and tenderest poets in our language.

For His Sake

Edited by ANNA E. MACK Gilt top Emblematic cover $1.00

MISS MACK'S latest book is a collection of shorter selections in both prose and poetry from the masters of English literature having to do with devotion, resurrection, and life, which will be widely sought for private reading, and as a gift sure to be welcomed by any friend of refinement and culture.

For Love's Sweet Sake



Selected Poems of Love in all Moods

Edited by G. HEMBERT WESTLY Illustrated Cloth $1.50 Full Leather $2.50

FOR every poem chosen in this splendid treasury of love poems the editor, himself a poet of no common power, has cast aside a hundred others as lacking the required elements of sincerity, seriousness, or sweetness. The result is such a collection as none but a trained litterateur could produce, and that after months of toil. Every poem is a gem, chosen for genuine feeling and appeal. The artistic merit of the book in every particular renders this such a gift as any one may be proud to receive.

SOPHIE MAY'S STORIES FOR YOUNG READERS

"GENIUS comes in with 'Little Prudy.' Compared with her, all other book-children are cold creations of literature; she alone is the real thing. All the quaintness of childhood, its originality, its tenderness and its teasing, its infinite uncommon drollery, the serious earnestness of its fun, and the fun of its seriousness, the naturalness of its play, and the delicious oddity of its progress, all these united for dear Little Prudy to embody them." — COL. T. W. HIGGINSON, in North American Review.

J. T. TROWBRIDGE'S WORKS

MR. TROWBRIDGE has a good perception of character, which he draws with skill; he has abundance of invention, which he never abuses; and he has, what so many American writers have not, an easy, graceful style, which can be humorous, or pathetic, or poetic.—R. H. Stoddard in N. Y. Mail

Fatherland Books Translated from the German, and among the best Sunday School Library Books published.
The genuine religious sentiment, the touching pathos, the heartsomeness, as well as the dramatic interest of these stories of Hoffman, of Horn, and of kindred writers, are well known to the German reader; and we trust by these translations to make German thought better known to the youthful English reader, whom we hope to familiarize with scenes and incidents of the Fatherland.

OUR LATEST PUBLICATIONS FOR PASTORS AND LAYMEN

The Nature of God

By JOHN A. HALL, D. D.

These chapters are given as the answer of Christian faith to the inquiry "What is God?" They show the failure of philosophy adequately to answer that inquiry. The author insists upon the divine revelation of Scripture. Many illuminating paragraphs set forth deep things sometimes hard to understand. One lays down the book with quickened pulses and ardent faith.

The Post-Apostolic Age

And Current Religious Problems

By J. B. REMENSNYDER, D. D., LL. D.

Valuable as a compact and comprehensive statement of the theological situation to-day. It is so fresh, so readable and so instructive along the lines in which Christian laymen are thinking that it should command a wide reading. It is scholarly, clear and attractive in style, handy as a book of ready reference for Christian thinkers, but also one to be read from beginning to end.

The Lutheran Catechist

By G. H. GERBERDING, D. D.

Dr. Gerberding is known as a most helpful writer on doctrinal and practical subjects. Naturally, this is a book for the pastor, whose joys, cares, needs and difficulties the author well understands. Any catechist's usefulness will be increased if he will lay to heart the wisdom of this volume.

Lutheran Monographs

A new series of timely booklets for popular reading is being issued by our Publication Society. The first of the series is just off the press.

The Distinctive Doctrines of Lutheranism

By PROFESSOR A. G. VOIGT, D. D.

The author treats great doctrines in so lucid a fashion that they can readily be grasped by the average man and woman. The surpassing fidelity of our Church to the Scriptures is strikingly shown.

BATSON, MRS. STEPHEN.

The Summer Garden of Pleasure. With 36 illustrations in colors by Osmand Pittman. Large 8vo . net 3.50
In this handsome volume the author of "A Concise Handbook of Garden Flowers" deals with the summer garden in general, and particularly with the matter of succession—the maintenance of the garden's beauties without break or loss of interest from early to late summer. The illustrations are admirable reproductions of charming garden scenes.

BENNET, ROBERT AMES.

*The Shogun's Daughter. With five illustrations in full color, and a full-color wrap, by W. D. Goldbeck. Crown 8vo . . . . . net 1.35

This story is brimming with the romance and color of Japan as it was when Commodore Perry first visited that country. Into the hermit nation—as Japan then was—with its iron-clad caste divisions and stern Samurai rule, comes an aristocrat of another sort—a blue-blooded Southerner, himself as proud as any Samurai, but with a passionate warmth of blood quite alien to Japan. Of course he falls in love with a maiden of the country, and of course tragedy as well as romance gleams over the story of his wooing.

†A Volunteer with Pike: The True Narrative of One Dr. John Robinson and His Love for the Fair Señorita Vallois. Illustrated in color by Charlotte Weber-Ditzler. Crown 8vo 1.50

The story of a companion of the intrepid Lieutenant Zebulon Pike on the expedition which discovered and named Pike's Peak.

†Into the Primitive. Illustrated in full color by Allen T. True. Third edition. Crown 8vo 1.50

A daring story of shipwreck on an uninhabited coast and the struggle of the only survivors, two men and a woman, for existence, against overwhelming odds, of the survival of the fittest, and of the course of true love.

BETHAM-EDWARDS, MATILDA.

*Literary Rambles in France. Illustrated. Large 8vo, net 2.50

Half calf or half morocco . . . . . net 5.00

The author tells in a pleasant, informal way of the scenes amid which some of the French masterpieces were produced, of the homes and habits of their authors.

*Home Life in France. Illustrated. Fourth American printing. Large 8vo . . . . . net 2.50

Half calf or half morocco . . . . . net 5.00

Miss Betham-Edwards has for many years been one of the few English writers who have understood France. Her book is an interesting revelation of the habits, the conventions, and the ambitions of the French people.

BIAGI, GUIDO.

*Men and Manners of Old Florence. With photogravure frontispiece and nearly 50 other illustrations. Large 8vo . . . . . net 3.50

Half calf or half morocco . . . . . net 6.50

Dr. Biagi is the well-known librarian of the Laurentian Library, Florence. This volume is filled with his great erudition, and is charming and instructive reading.

Miss Bouvet's books occupy a unique place among the juvenile works of today. 75,000 copies have been sold, and the titles are officially adopted and commended by library boards and the reading circles of several States.

BOYLES, KATE AND VIRGIL D.

†The Spirit Trail. With four illustrations in full color, and a color wrap, by Maynard Dixon. Crown 8vo . 1.50

In this story of the Dakota Indians of the early seventies, a love story of unusual power is interwoven with the heroic efforts of Hugh Hunt, a frontier missionary, working towards the Christianization of the Indians. His efforts did not succeed, however, in averting the last struggle of the Sioux for the lands granted them in the Laramie treaty of 1868, and during that struggle the daughter of the Indian Agent is kidnapped. How her lover, thrown in jail after conviction on a murder charge, breaks out and with the aid of the missionary finds her, is told with all the fidelity to Dakota life that distinguishes the work of these two popular authors.

†The Homesteaders. Illustrated in color by Maynard Dixon. Third edition. Crown 8vo 1.50

A strong story of the free-range cattle country in which two homesteaders—one a young woman—fight for possession with a band of desperate "rustlers."

†Langford of the Three Bars: A Fighter of the Right Sort. Illustrated in color by N. C. Wyeth. Second edition. Crown 8vo 1.50

A fine story of the cattle country, with a double romance.

BRADLEY, A. G.

The Romance of Northumberland. With 16 illustrations in color by Frank Southgate, and 12 other plates. Large 8vo . . . . . net 2.75

This volume is the outcome of some months of leisurely wandering through the most interesting portions of Northumberland. It is a full and entertaining description of the most romantic parts of the romantic country so renowned in border song and story.

BRONSON, EDGAR BEECHER.

†The Red Blooded. With many illustrations by Dixon, Price, Benda, and others. Crown 8vo 1.50

These are tales of the plains of forty years ago, and later "red-blooded" adventures in the West. All of these stories are from the personal experience of Mr. Bronson, and while they are so full of adventure, humor, and strong climaxes, that their author says they will be regarded as fiction, he draws them, as a matter of fact, from actual happenings.

In Closed Territory. Profusely illustrated from photographs by the author. Crown 8vo . . . . net 1.75

A wonderfully interesting account of hunting big game in British East Africa over the same ground covered by Mr. Roosevelt. The author is a celebrated hunter and traveler, and his book is a vivid and thrilling story of adventure. Dr. W. J. Hornady furnishes an Introduction.

†Reminiscences of a Ranchman. New Revised Edition, with new matter. Profusely illustrated by Dixon, Wweth, Dunton, etc. Crown 8vo 1.50

Mr. Bronson left a newspaper berth in New York over forty years ago to seek health and fortune on the Western frontier. He found both, working his way from tenderfoot cowboy to experienced ranch-owner. The types he met, the early Indian fights, brushes with bad men, and the whole adventurous side of the cattleman's life, are covered in these reminiscences, which are now reprinted with additional matter and many illustrations.

BROWN, WALTER LEE.

See "Helpful Thoughts Series."

BROWN, WILLIAM HORACE.

The Glory Seekers. With 16 portraits, and drawings by W. J. Enright. 12mo . . . . . net 1.50

"A unique, interesting, and valuable story of the days of the early Southwest, when adventurous spirits tried at various times to establish an empire there." —Pittsburg Dispatch.

BROWNE, FRANCIS F.

Golden Poems by British and American Authors.

New revised (eleventh) edition. 8vo, gilt top . . 1.50
"Holly Series." Full limp leather, gilt edges . net 1.50
In the "Distinctive Leather" novelties . . net 2.00
Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 3.00

The "Home Poetry Book" we have all been wanting so long. Contains more of every one's favorites (five hundred selections from three hundred writers) than any other collection at a popular price; with the best of the many fine poems written in the last few years.

CANFIELD, C. L.

†The City of Six. Illustrated by John W. Norton. Crown 8vo 1.50

This is a true as well as a vividly drawn picture of the California placer mining of '49 by one who shared in the adventures narrated. The "Six" who named the "city" where they panned their gold, in their common endeavor and perils, remind the reader of Dumas' immortal three.

CARLYLE, THOMAS

On Heroes and Hero-Worship and the Heroic in History. 16 mo, gilt top. Third printing 50

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . . net 2.00

Sartor Resartus: The Life and Opinions of Herr Teufelsdröckh. 16mo, gilt top. Third printing . . .50

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 2.00

See also Sanderson, Edgar.

CARPENTER, JOHN and RUE.

Improving Songs for Anxious Children. Quaintly illustrated and bound, oblong folio, 11x14 inches . net 1.25

When Little Boys Sing. Verses, with music and illustrations in color. Third edition. Oblong folio, 11x14 inches . . . . . net 1.25

Two color books entirely unique. The pictures are quaint, and the songs are quite delightfully unlike all others that have ever been written for or about children.

CARR, CLARK E.

Stephen A. Douglas: A Historical Study of His Life, Public Services, Patriotism, and Speeches. Illustrated. Crown 8vo . . . . . net 2.00

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 4.50

This is probably the most searching and analytic review of Douglas' career ever written. "The Little Giant" is placed in a new light, and his greatness is emphasized in the most illuminating manner.

My Day and Generation. With over 60 illustrations. Indexed. Large 8vo, gilt top . . . . . net 3.00

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 6.50

The author has known intimately as many of the great men and women of this country as any other man now living. Moreover, as Minister to the Court of Denmark, he came to know well various members of the Danish Royal Family, and he here records his impressions of them in a most entertaining manner.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Illustrated. Tall 16mo, novelty binding. Fourth edition . . . . net 1.00

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 2.75

In special ooze calf, boxed . . . . . net 1.50

Colonel Carr is believed to be the only member of the original Gettysburg Cemetery Commission now living, and his interpretation of Lincoln's great Address has more than ordinary interest. A beautiful little volume.

The Illini: A Story of the Prairies. With 20 full-page portraits. Seventh edition, revised throughout, and with complete index. Large 8vo, gilt top . . net 2.00

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 5.00

This is probably one of the most unique historical books ever published. Its success has been extraordinary. A stirring romance of ante-slavery days is the basis of the work, but besides the fiction part Colonel Carr presents a series of characterizations of the great men of Illinois, and a mass of facts and anecdotes about them that makes the volume simply invaluable.

The Railway Mail Service: Its Origin and Development. Illustrated. Boards, 8vo . . . . net .50

This is the best account of the origin and development of the Railway Mail Service there is extant.

CARR, SARAH PRATT.

†Billy To-morrow. Illustrated by Charles M. Relyea. 12mo 1.25

A fine boy's book, the scene of which is laid in California, soon after the San Francisco disaster.

†Billy To-morrow in Camp. With eight illustrations by H. S. De Lay. 12mo 1.25

This is the second volume in the "Billy Tomorrow" series, and it takes up the tale of Billy's adventurous life after contact with a little refugee girl, lost in the San Francisco disaster, had changed his character. In this second tale Billy not only tastes the enjoyments of camping in the woods—which are described in a detailed manner sure to popularize that way of taking holidays—but solves a mystery and has to face some circumstances that still further call out the best of his growing manhood.

COOK, FREDERICK F.

*Bygone Days in Chicago. Recollections of the Garden City in the '60's. Profusely illustrated. Crown 8vo. . . . . net 2.75

Mr. Cook, who was a Chicago newspaper man in the days of which he writes, rebuilds a vanished city peopled with the celebrities—and others—he knew in the sixties, as well as with the founders whose stories he gathered from the lips of those who knew them, who told their recollections to Mr. Cook just after the big fire in order that their stories would not perish with the contemporary records of them. The book is marked by philosophic analysis and abounds in humorous anecdote, and entertaining information.

COOKE, MARJORIE BENTON.

†The Girl Who Lived in the Woods. With five illustrations in full color, and a full-color wrap, by the Kinneys. Crown 8vo 1.50

A most unusual story in which Bohemian artist life in Chicago and the intrigues incident to a labor war are contrasted with idyllic country life. The "Girl" is a talented artist, who had thrust from her the conventions of society and chosen to live an outcast until the influence of a little child wins her back to human companionship and opens up to her the path of a beautifully told romance. Judge Carteret, the hero of the tale, is an unusually well drawn character.

COOLIDGE, DANE.

*Hidden Water. With four illustrations in full color, and a color wrap, by Maynard Dixon. Crown 8vo. . . . . net 1.35

This is a thrilling story of the Arizona cattle country, by a writer who knows his field and has caught the true spirit of its life. The characters are real, and the incidents true to the life of those strenuous days. The story concerns the strife between cattle and sheep men, for the possession of the great grazing ranges, and is told without exaggeration.

COSTELLO, FREDERICK B.

†Sure-Dart: A Story of Strange Hunters and Stranger Game in the Days of the Monsters. Illustrated by Walter J. Enright. 12mo 1.25

HALL, MRS. S. C.

*Tales of Irish Life and Character. Illustrated in color. Large 8vo . . . . . net 1.75

Mrs. Hall's Irish tales have long been distinguished for their faithfulness to true native character and wit. The finest of Erskine Nicol's illustrations of Irish life, world-famous for their inimitable character and humor, have been collected for this edition, and are here reproduced for the first time direct from the originals. Uniform with Dean Ramsey's "Reminiscences."

HANCOCK, DR. JOSEPH L.

*Nature Sketches in Temperate America. With over 100 illustrations from original drawings and photographs, and 12 in color. Crown 8vo . . . net 2.75

The author is a scientist as well as a lover of nature, and these sketches of the life histories and habitats of the lower forms of life in North America are a pleasing introduction to those sciences so fascinating to the layman which are embraced under the old term "natural history." To the general reader who wishes to comprehend the agencies of natural selection as they are actually to be seen at work, the book is to be commended, as well as for class use in school and college. The numerous illustrations are from studies made in the field by the author, and are of unusual artistic and scientific merit.

HANSON, JOSEPH MILLS.

†With Sully into the Sioux Lands. Illustrated by John W. Norton. Crown 8vo 1.50

This is a boys' story of the campaign of General Sully against the Dakota Indians in 1864. The first Indian hostilities and the massacre of the boy hero's family are graphically described, and the actual happenings of the campaign are drawn upon to furnish a story that is full of fascinating interest and at the same time rings true. The volume is the first in a new series to be called "Among the Sioux."

Frontier Ballads. Cover, end-paper design, and illustrations, by Maynard Dixon. Novelty binding . net 1.00

In ooze leather Series . . . . . net 1.50

A series of stirring narrative poems breathing the vital spirit of the old frontier. Typical incidents of cowboy life, the Western soldier's deeds of heroism and daring, the life of the old river days, the glamour of the plains—all these Mr. Hanson has utilized to the full in his verses, and with Mr. Dixon's capital pictures, the result is a most original and charming "Western" book.

The Conquest of the Missouri. Profusely illustrated. Second edition. Large 8vo . . . . . net 2.00

An interesting and valuable contribution to Western history.

HARRISON, EDITH OGDEN.

Princess Sayrane: A Romance of the Days of Prester John. With four illustrations in full color, and a full-color wrap, by Harold Betts, with borders and other decorations in color. Crown 8vo . . net 1.35

While Mrs Harrison's reputation has been made with her Fairy Tales, the same delicacy of treatment and sympathy with the romantic side of life distinguish "Princess Sayrane," her first romance. The scene is laid in Egypt in the days when Prester John, Emperor of Abyssinia, was its overlord. Sayrane, daughter of the Egyptian ruler, educated more liberally than her countrywomen and with a mind of singular independence, rebels against her betrothal to Prester John. Mohamedan intrigue and the influence of Christianity add complications to the situation, and until the dramatic climax of the story the fate of Sayrane is quite enigmatical. Mrs. Harrison's vivid descriptions of Egypt bespeak a personal knowledge of the country as well as a wide research. The book is brought out in sumptuous style, and printed in two colors.

HARDY, ABBOTT LAWRENCE.

*The Fort Dearborn Year Book. Novelty shape and binding. Illustrated . . . . . net .50

Quaint and curious items in the life of old Chicago are here collected and contrasted with facts and figures of the larger Chicago of today. The idea is unique and instructive and the little book forms a most attractive souvenir.

HART, JEROME.

†A Vigilante Girl. Frontispiece in colors and other illustrations by John W. Norton. Crown 8vo . . 1.50

Rarely have the old days in California been presented as in this story. Romance and history are skillfully blended, and the reader is carried from one exciting event to another. Mr. Hart was for years editor of "The San Francisco Argonaut," and he knows his field as do few men now living. The story is a strong one and the heroine is a charming and fascinating creation.

HATCH, ERNEST F. G.

*Far Eastern Impressions: Japan, Corea, and China. With 88 illustrations. Indexed. 12mo . . net 1.40

Uniform with Clement's "Handbook of Japan."

HAYDON, A. L.

*The Riders of the Plains: A Record of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police of Canada. Fully illustrated. Large 8vo . . . . . net 2.75

The Canadian Mounted Police are conceded to be the finest body of mounted men in the world, and their task, that of keeping order and respect for law in a wild sparsely settled country, where smuggling of spirits, liquor-selling to Indians, and the presence of many outlaws add to the natural difficulties of police duty, is one that requires peculiar courage and physical competence. In the past the exploits of this force have always verged upon and often have reached the heroic, and in this volume these are related with historical accuracy, dramatic intensity, and a wealth of anecdote and reminiscence. Appendices give much data as to the personnel of the force, its numerical strength, and the conditions of service.

HOFFMAN, ROBERT FULKERSON.

†Mark Enderby: Engineer. Illustrated in color by William Harnden Foster. Crown 8vo 1.50

Mountain railroading in the Southwest is one of the most strenuous and dramatic phases of American life, and in "Mark Enderby" full advantage has been taken of its romantic possibilities. The hero is a veteran engineer, brave, of ripened worldly wisdom, shrewd and kindly, while his daughter Ruth is a strong and winning personality. The story is told with a realism reminiscent of Kipling, but in its crisp dialogue and especially in its humor is a most American tale.

HOLDER, CHARLES F., F. L. S.

The Channel Islands. Profusely illustrated. Crown 8vo . . . . . net 2.00

The Channel Islands, just off the coast of Southern California, are among the most popular playgrounds of lovers of fishing, shooting, and the open air, in the United States. In this book the author covers every point of interest to tourist, angler, and sportsman, and supplements his interesting text with much scientific data and a list of the game fishes of the islands.

HUNTING, HENRY GARDNER.

†The Silver Canoe. Illustrated by H. S. De Lay. 12mo 1.25

This is a good healthy story for boys and for girls, too. All the characters are employed in a big metropolitan department store, and the story hinges around the solution of a rebus contest, in which there is some attempt at cheating, which is met by the honesty of two of the contestants.

HUTCHINSON, FRANCES KINSLEY (Mrs. Charles L.).

*Motoring in the Balkans: A Trip along Slavic Highways. Over 100 illustrations. Large 8vo . net 2.75

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 5.00

This is a vivacious account of the journey of a motoring party through Eastern Europe. Their route lay from Trieste, through Dalmatia, touching Montenegro, and taking in other countries in this little-known part of the world. An itinerary adds to the value of the work, which is planned for practical use as well as entertainment.

*Our Country Home: How We Transformed a Wisconsin Wilderness. Over 100 illustrations. Small 4to, boxed . . . . . net 2.00

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . . net 5.00

An intimate personal account of the planning, the building, and the arranging of a charming country place. At once a book of cheery entertainment for the tired city dweller, of suggestive stimulus for those who dream some day of having their own country home, large or small, and of practical value for those who are already working out the same problems that confronted these two happy laborers.

JOHN THE UNAFRAID. Printed in two colors. 18mo net 1.00

In limp natural calf (Upward and Onward Series), boxed . . . . . net 1.00

A forecast of the perfect day of righteousness on earth, brought about not by external mechanical means, but by the turning of men to the service taught by the Master. "Every good wish is a prayer and every good deed is an answer to prayer" is the simple theory this little story seeks to uphold. It is a new confession of faith for those who will read and heed. The author is a man known the country over, who prefers to keep his identity secret.

†The Delafield Affair. Illustrated in full color by Maynard Dixon. Third edition. 12mo 1.50

KELLY, JAMES PAUL.

†Prince Izon. Illustrated in color by Harold Betts. Crown 8vo 1.50

A remnant of the Aztec race hidden in an unknown spur of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and surviving until the present day, is the premise upon which the romance of "Prince Izon" rests. The conflict between a Christianized faction of this people whose prince is a direct descendant of Montezuma, and a faction which still worships the God whose delight is human blood, supply the story's dramatic action.

LYMAN, EDNA.

Story Telling: What to Tell and How to Tell It. Small 16mo . . . . . net .75

Story telling is fast regaining its ancient popularity, and that which gives new life to the old art is the discovery that it may be made a valuable aid to the educator. The demand of children for story telling has reached outside the school room, and parents and others untrained in the art, find real need for information regarding its practise. Such people have little time in which to search for proper material, and the greater part of this book has been devoted to doing that for them. Besides the actual stories given, the availability of such well-known material as the ancient epics and ballads is discussed with full directions for their best utilization. Parents, librarians, social workers, and school teachers will need the book.

LYMAN, HENRY M.

Hawaiian Yesterdays: Chapters from a Boy's Life in the Islands in the Early Days. Illustrated. Large 8vo . . . . . net 2.00

A delightfully written account of what a boy saw of life in the Islands in the early '40's. The author was the son of a well-known missionary in Hawaii.

LYND, ROBERT.

Home Life in Ireland. Illustrated. Large 8vo . net 2.50

Half morocco, gilt top . . . . . net 5.50

"The Irishman is one of the world's puzzles," says the author, but he is apparently a puzzle with which Mr. Lynd is very familiar, for in this fascinating book there is every sign of intimate comprehension of Irish character as well as knowledge of Irish home life. Occupations, matchmaking, schools, children, wakes, funerals, public life, the work of the priests, and the religion of the people, are all described with humor and sympathy.

MANN, MILLICENT E.

†Lady Dear. A Story for Children. Illustrated by the Kinneys. 12mo 1.00

†Margot. Illustrated by the Kinneys. 12mo . . . 1.00

MASON, EDITH HUNTINGTON.

†The Politician. Illustrations in color by the Kinneys. Crown 8vo 1.50

The choice between a political career and the calmer joys of domesticity confronts Vernor Ellis at almost every turn in the development of this capital novel. He needs money, he needs a lot of it, in fact, and here is Harriet Rand, very attractive ,and very rich, who is three-quarters in love with him. Yet does he want to give up the career for the girl? Is she worth it? The reader will think so, and the ending is a deft solution of a difficult problem. It is a natural, easy, and very clever story, told with animation, and containing highly effective glimpses of social life in Chicago and New York.

The Real Agatha: The Unusual Adventures of Two Young Men and an Heiress. With frontispiece by W. T. Smedley. Square 8vo . . . . . net 1.00

McCARTER, MARGARET HILL.

The Price of the Prairie: A Story of Kansas. With five illustrations in full color, and a full-color wrap, by J. N. Marchand . . . . . net 1.35

Mrs. McCarter is a well-known writer on Kansas themes and thoroughly familiar with the romantic beginning of white settlement there. In this tale the conflict of whites and Indians, culminating in the famous Osage massacre, is most graphically described. Combined with the thrilling story of frontier strife is a gentle love story and some remarkably poetic descriptions of the glamour and shimmer of the plains before the coming of civilization blotted it out.

McCUTCHEON, JOHN T.

"T. R." In Cartoons by McCutcheon . . . . net .75

Mr. John T. McCutcheon has been a friend and admirer of Theodore Roosevelt all through his public career. Shakespeare's Love Story. With 22 illustrations. Beautifully bound in vellum . . . . . net 2.50

Half calf or half morocco . . . . . net 5.50

The author here presents in holiday dress an idyllic picture of Shakespeare the lover. The sonnets, a number of which are introduced, are treated, not alone, as literary compositions fashionable in their time, but as lines addressed to a beloved maiden—the fair Ann Hathaway. The portrait presented of "Will" Shakespeare is a very human one, in the light of which his plays take a new interest. A beautiful gift book.

A full and vivid record of what was done by the Fleet and what was seen by its members in their great journey around the world. A unique series of wonderfully interesting pictures from copyright photographs.

†Around the World with the Battleships. With introductory note by James B. Connolly. Illustrated. Third edition. 12mo 1.25

Roman J. Miller is an enlisted man in the United States Navy. He accompanied the battleship fleet on its remarkable voyage around the world, and in this work he tells with naive spontaneity and simple directness all that impressed him on the way. By boys especially will this work be enjoyed, although it holds a patriotic appeal to everyone. It is especially recomended for school libraries and reading circle use.

MILLS, JAMES COOKE.

*Our Inland Seas. Profusely illustrated. Crown 8vo . . . . . net 1.75

This book is distinctively a history of the shipping on the Great Lakes, and a most fascinating story it makes. Marine development, from its genesis three centuries ago to the present day of immense steel freighters and innumerable fleets, is covered, the perils that ever have and still environ this shipping are told in a thrilling manner, and the building and operation of the present-day freighters, are told in detail. And through the story, with its interesting side lights on history and bizarre tales of lost treasure and lost people, is woven the revelation of the economic value of lake shipping, and in conclusion there are far-seeing chapters on the possibilities of greater waterway traffic development in the future. The ground covered by the book does not overlap that of any previous publication.

MITFORD, M. E.

Sketches of English Life and Character. Illustrated in color. Large 8vo . . . . . net 1.75

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 5.00

Miss Mitford, as a writer on English life and character, needs no introduction to American readers. Her impressions of those more intimate aspects of English life than can be seen from the outside, are delightfully conveyed in this volume, and the colored pictures, by a well-known British artist, help to make a sumptuous volume exceptionally adapted to gift purposes. Uniform with Dean Ramsey's "Reminiscences."

MONTGOMERY, K. L.

†The Cardinal's Pawn. Frontispiece in color by F. J. Arting. Crown 8vo 75

The tale is of the Florence and Venice of the Renaissance. The Cardinal is Ferdinando, a scion of the infamous Medicis and past master in their lethal methods. His pawn is a girl, with woman's wit and man's wrist, who, to save her brother from death at the hands of a faithless wife, enters the Cardinal's game disguised as the brother she would save. The story reproduces glowingly the color, the intrigue, and the wickedness of Italy in its most picturesque and most wicked days.

MORLEY, MARGARET W.

†Donkey John of the Toy Valley. Illustrated. Second edition. 12mo 1.25

This is a charming tale of the wooden-toy makers in a famous Austrian valley. The illustrations are reproduced from a collection of these quaintly carved toys and are unique.

†The Renewal of Life: How and When to Tell the Story to the Young. Second edition. Illustrated. 12mo 1.25

A Song of Life. Illustrated. Twentieth thousand. 12mo 1.25

Life and Love. Illustrated. Seventh thousand. 12mo 1.25

The aim of these volumes is to interest the young in plant development and fertilization, and in the life and transformation of the animal kingdom, and finally in the transmission and development of human life. The last volume is characterized by Edward W. Bok, editor of "The Ladies' Home Journal," in a full-page editorial, as the best book on the subject.

The Bee People. Illustrated. Eleventh thousand. 12mo 1.25

The Honey-Makers. Illustrated. 12mo 1.25

†Grasshopper Land. With 100 illustrations by the author. 12mo 1.25

Miss Morley's studies of insect life combine with a wealth of anecdote and imagery numerous literary allusions and a great amount of scientific information derived from long study and patient observation. These books have become recognized as standard for supplementary work, for schools and public libraries, and for reading circles.

A finely patriotic account of the greatness of our country beyond the Alleghanies.

†The Stroke Oar. 12mo 1.50

A rattling good college yarn by a man who is master of his field.

PARRISH, RANDALL.

Keith of the Border: A Tale of the Plains. With 4 illustrations in full color, and a full-color wrap, by W. Herbert Dunton. Crown 8vo . . . . . net 1.35

This is one of the best stories that Mr. Parrish has written—which is saying a good deal. It is concerned with the days when Indians disputed the Western frontier with the encroaching whites, and time, places, and characters are all familiar to the author, who was himself an actor in the dramatic episodes of those days. There is an exciting mystery, and an enthralling love situation.

†Don MacGrath. Illustrated by John W. Norton. Crown 8vo 1.50

This is Mr. Parrish's first story for young readers. He has written it with the same vigor and interest that characterize his novels and has produced a fine tale. It concerns a boy's adventures on the Mississippi in the latter days of the river steamer—the boy hero runs away from a mussel fisher's apology for home, finds an interesting and mysterious companion, joins a river "show-boat" troupe, and, for some reason beyond his ken, is sought and captured by a gang of desperate characters.

The Goose Girl: A Mother's Lap Book of Rhymes and Pictures. With 40 full-page drawings by the author. 4to, boards 1.25

The author, well known as the creator of many graceful illustrations for children's books, displays an equal facility with the pen.

PERRY, LAWRENCE.

†Dan Merrithew. Illustrated in color by J. V. McFall. Crown 8vo 1.50

From the deck of an ocean-going yacht—tied up in New York harbor—the guests are idly watching the professional skill with which a young man is handling a cable on a near-by tug. One of the men carelessly throws him a cigarette, and Virginia Howland, noting the quick resentment with which this tactless performance is received, leans over the rail and offers an apology. No experienced reader of fiction needs to be told that a romance begins then and there. Nor is there any need of going further into the plot; it is a first rate sea story, swift, exciting, and skillfully done, with some splendidly stirring climaxes.

PETRIE, W. M. FLINDERS.

The Arts and Crafts of Ancient Egypt. Illustrated. Small 4to . . . . . net 1.75

Half calf or half morocco . . . . . net 5.00

The simple, distinctive beauty of the art of Ancient Egypt, and the wonderful craftsmanship of its people, are little known. This important work, written by one of the most eminent Egyptologists of the day, should introduce Egyptian art to a large circle of readers. It contains a full survey of the activities indicated by its title, is fully illustrated, and, while written in a popular style, contains the fruits of the most recent discoveries. (Uniform with Arts and Crafts of Old Japan.)

PHILLIPS, ISAAC N.

Lincoln: A Monograph. With frontispiece. Novelty binding. 16mo . . . . . net 1.00

This is an analysis of the character of Lincoln written from a distinctly original standpoint, with marked insight into the political forces of Lincoln's day, and is illuminating and instructive. Strong emphasis is placed on a side of Lincoln's character not hitherto clearly understood.

POINDEXTER, CHARLOTTE M.

Jane Hamilton's Recipes: Delicacies from the Old Dominion. Boards, 16mo 1.00

These recipes have been handed down from "the good old days" through four generations of a Virginian family, with additions from a Scotch collection.

POLK, JAMES K.

Diary of James K. Polk. Edited by Milo Milton Quaife. With three photogravure reproductions of hitherto unpublished portraits. Four volumes. Large 8vo, boards, boxed . . . . . net 20.00

This is a word-for-word reprint of the original manuscript now in the possession of the Chicago Historical Society. It has never before been published. As an historical document it is of the greatest interest and importance.

"Holly Series," full limp leather, gilt edges, in box . . . . . net 1.50

Dickens: Tale of Two Cities. Oliver Twist. Scott: Kenilworth. Ivanhoe.

Every effort in the planning and production of these volumes has been directed toward avoiding the objectionable features of the average reprint. The aim has been compactness, readability and serviceability, combined with a popular price.

PRIESTMAN, MABEL TUKE.

Artistic Homes. Profusely illustrated. Large 8vo net 2.00
Half morocco, gilt top . . . . . net 5.00

Owners and prospective owners of homes will welcome and cannot fail to profit by this practically written book. The author does not give plans and directions for making one's home as it might be, but describes actual homes she has visited in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and other States, tells how they were built, how much they have actually cost, and supplements her information and advice by an admirable series of illustrations.

Handicrafts in the Home. Profusely illustrated. Large 8vo . . . . . net 2.00
Half morocco, gilt top . . . . . net 5.00

This book is written by an expert, for the untrained amateur whose needs have hitherto been neglected except in special books dealing with some particular craft. Mrs. Priestman covers the entire field of handicrafts which may be successfully undertaken by the amateur in the home. The work is beautifully and adequately illustrated.

PUTNAM, M. LOUISE.

The Children's Life of Abraham Lincoln. New edition, thoroughly revised. Sixteenth thousand. Illustrated by Helen M. Armstrong. 12mo 1.25

So wide has been the approval of this admirable life-story that new editions are constantly required to meet the demand. No better account has been provided for the rather exacting requirements of school libraries and reading circles. It is the one story of Lincoln's life combining entertaining narrative with accurate statement.

RABB, KATE MILNER.

National Epics. 12mo 1.50

RAMSAY, DEAN.

Reminiscences of Scottish Life and Character. With 16 tipped illustrations in color by H. W. Kerr. Crown 8vo . . . . . net 1.75
Half morocco, gilt top . . . . . net 5.00

An especially attractive feature of this new edition is the beautifully colored illustrations of characters and scenes which are in sympathy with the spirit of the text. It forms a charming presentation book.

REDDALL, H. F.

Fact, Fancy, and Fable: A New Handbook for Ready Reference on Subjects Commonly Omitted from Cyclopaedias. Compiled by Henry F. Reddall. 8vo 1.50

REED, CHARLES B.

The First Great Canadian. The Story of Pierre Le Moyne, Sieur D'Iberville. Illustrated from rare prints. Crown 8vo . . . . . net 2.00

Sieur d'Iberville was the most conspicuous figure of the days when France sought to plant in Canada a feudal empire ruled from home. Menaced by English and Iroquois hostility, torn by greed for furs and political and ecclesiastical hostility, the colony was well fitted to produce the giant personality whose story is dramatically told in these pages. Sieur Le Moyne was the most notable man of his day, and the only one to fight for France on the shores of Hudson Bay, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Gulf of Mexico. He founded French Louisiana.

Franklin Year Book. With frontispiece, printed in two colors, novelty binding. Tall 16mo . . net 1.00
In special ooze calf, boxed . . . . net 1.50

These little books are full of the patriotic sentiment of the two great periods of American history and furnish some of the most penetrating wisdom of our history. They make admirable gift-books.

Patriotism, Catchwords of. With frontispiece, printed in two colors, novelty binding. Uniform style with "Catchwords of Cheer." Tall 16mo . . net 1.00
In special ooze calf, boxed . . . . . net 1.50

The extracts begin with Colonial days, and include almost every name conspicuous in American annals down to the present time.

The Athlete's Garland: An Anthology of Sport and Pastime. 16mo 1.00
Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 2.00

This is the first anthology of the best classical and modern poetry inspired by prowess in outdoor games.

Toasts and Table Sentiments. Printed in two colors, novelty binding. Square 16mo . . . . . net .50
In special ooze calf, boxed . . . . . net 1.25

A new collection of toasts, containing many that cannot be found elsewhere, and also of sentiments appropriate for dinner gatherings. The little book is uniform in size and general style with "Catchwords of Friendship."

RICE, WALLACE and FRANCES.

The Humbler Poets. Second Series. A Collection of Newspaper and Periodical Verse, 1885 to 1910. Large 8vo . . . . . net 1.50
Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 3.00

Not all great poetry is produced by the great poets. Countless happy poetical inspirations, and some really strong poems meriting wide recognition, have appeared in periodicals from the pens of unknown writers. The first series of "The Humbler Poets" contained a collection of such poems up to 1885, and its success has resulted in this second volume, which brings the work of the lesser known poets down to date.

A reference work compiled from the author's private research and many other sources, with methods of identification and a classification of examples of collectors.

ROGERS, CLARA KATHLEEN (Clara Doria).

My Voice and I: or, The Relation of the Singer to the Song. With portrait. 12mo . . . . . net 1.50

Mrs. Rogers, long known to concert goers as "Claria Doria," has a reputation as a composer as well as a concert singer, and her book on "The Philosophy of Singing" was a most comprehensive study of the use of the voice. In "My Voice and I" this gifted artist and teacher describes the methods of voice cultivation which have resulted in her own success. She sets forth many new ideas in voice training and lays much stress upon the relations between voice and musical perception, the student's volition, and the cultivation of his brain power. While her theories are in many respects novel, and while many current methods of training are criticised, the work is written in a thorough manner and scientific spirit, and is a real contribution to the subject worthy the attention of every teacher and student. Mr. George P. Upton contributes an Introductory note.

ROULET, MARY F. NIXON.

The Spaniard at Home. Beautifully illustrated from paintings and from photographs. Large 8vo . . net 2.75

To most people Spain is practically an unknown country, and with the exception of travel books which cater to the tourist entirely, and occasional accounts of bull fights, the whole picturesque life of a most interesting people is a closed book. Mrs. Roulet's beautifully illustrated work describes for the first time the real home life and intimate character of the Spaniard. The story is a most interesting one and reveals its subjects in a different light from that in which they are usually exhibited. The book is written from the standpoint of personal knowledge of the country and with charm of style as well as of sympathy.

An unusual amount of care has been accorded the illustrations and decorations of this book.

SADLER, WILLIAM S., M.D.

The Cause and Cure of Colds. Illustrated. 8vo net 1.00

Although colds are so common, their origin, effects, and cure are clouded in misapprehension. Dr. Sadler clearly distinguishes between the different kinds of colds, shows that in spite of their general name low temperature is not the agency of their being, describes the course of the various colds, distinguishes them from grip, and gives most comprehensive directions for their cure and for guarding one's self against them. This little book may be made of inestimable value by all who are willing to follow a physician's sensible advice.

The Science of Living; or, The Art of Keeping Well. With many drawings. 8vo . . . . . net 1.50

The author has covered every requirement of the man who wishes to keep well and will accept the advice of a sensible physician to that end. He discusses every aspect of bodily hygiene, and while avoiding all fads of diet, clothing, or breathing, gives the latest words of science upon these and other sides of living. He discusses Fletcherism and other theories of nutrition in a helpful and unbiassed manner, points out the dangers of indiscriminate drugging, and warns against prevalent adulterations of foods which he enables the reader to detect for himself. His discussions of physiology are in non-technical language and are fully illustrated by diagrams.

Napoleon Bonaparte's First Campaign. With Comments. Fifth edition. With maps. 12mo . . . 1.50

From the standpoint of military strategy, Col. Sargent has become recognized as one of the most competent writers of today. He has no superior as a military critic and historian. Everyone who is interested in the technical aspect of the Santiago Campaign will find his work on this subject judicial and authoritative. It has taken its place as the standard history of American operations in the Spanish-American War.

*Bishop Spalding Year Book. See "Helpful Thoughts Series."

Bishop Spalding has endeared himself to thousands, both in his church and out, by his sane, kindly, practical writings, and his circle of readers is increasing year by year. It is generally admitted that few modern writers can equal him in outlining a sound and practical philosophy and he gives in his books at once the wisdom of a lifetime devoted to keen observation and sober reflection, and the results of a real scholarship and literary discrimination. Bishop Spalding's books have now reached a sale of over 70,000 copies.

UPTON, GEORGE P.

*Standard Musical Biographies. Uniform with "The Standard Operas," etc. Fully illustrated. 12mo . 1.75

Half calf or half morocco, gilt top . . . net 3.50

The composers whose works are most familiar in the concert room are the subjects of these biographies, which include, besides brief treatments of the personal sides of their lives, the number of their compositions, and the verdict of time on their merits. The volume has been written for concert-goers rather than for experts, but experts and distinguished contemporary critics have been freely consulted in its preparation. Besides these opinions, Mr. Upton gives his own observations during half a century of musical criticism, and the blending of the two points of view gives to the music lover not only a safe and informative guide to the greatest composers, but an interesting and stimulating appreciation of their work that cannot fail largely to enhance the pleasure he may obtain from their works. The volume is uniform with "The Standard Operas," "The Standard Concert Repertory," etc.

WALK, CHARLES E.

The Paternoster Ruby. With 5 illustrations in full color, and a full-color wrap, by J. V. McFall. Crown 8vo . . . . . net 1.35

When Stephen Paget was found cruelly murdered, suspicion fell equally upon the two young men, his secretary and a lawyer, who had spent the night in his house. That his murder had taken place just after he had broken the wheat corner of a rival financier, that hidden in his home was the Paternoster Ruby for which he had outbid that rival years before, and the young lawyer's strange story that he had gone to his uncle's home to ask for that famous jewel—were complications which paled before the mystery of the jewel's whereabouts. The unraveling of the mystery is materially aided by a girl whose courage and charm will win the heart of every reader, fresh as such aspects are in a story of mystery and crime.

†The Yellow Circle. Illustrated by Will Grefé. Crown 8vo 1.50

New Volumes:

Suggestion. Clairvoyance, etc.

Spiritism. Hindu Philosophy in a Nutshell.

Previous Volumes:

Psychology. Telepathy.

Personal Magnetism. Hypnotism.

The author is a well known student and teacher of what has now been raised to the dignity of a new science, "Psychics." In his investigations he has been led to substantially the same conclusions as the late Thomson J. Hudson. These little books place the main phenomena before the student, point out their conditions, their causes when these are approximately known, and indicate the uses that the individual may make of these psychic powers. The books are distinguished from all others by their brief and practical treatment of the subjects.

WASHBURNE, MARION FOSTER.

†The House on the North Shore. Illustrated by Maginel Wright Enright. 12mo 1.25

A story for young men and girls, which will also be read with keen interest by thoughtful fathers and mothers. The attitude of the book is thoroughly modern and wholesome.

WAYNE, KENNETH H.

*Building Your Boy. 16mo . . . . . net .50

A little book packed with common sense from cover to cover. The author writes from the standpoint of a parent who has done successfully that which he preaches and there is no attempt at labored "psychology" or platitude. Such details as the direction of a boy's reading, the observing of his companions, allowing him a room in which he can take pride as well as seek seclusion, are a suggestive few of the subjects covered.

*WHAT IS A PICTURE?

Boards, square 8vo . . . . . net .60

Taking pictures as his starting point, the author briefly surveys the field of art theory in a clear and concrete manner, and the reader is given some leading ideas by which his future appreciation of pictures may be guided.

YOUNG MISSOURIANS SERIES, THE.

By Byron A. Dunn.

†With Lyon in Missouri. With 8 illustrations by H. S. De Lay. 12mo 1.25

This is the first volume in a new series to be called "The Young Missourians," and is just the sort of book that every patriotic boy or girl will take delight in. Not only is the story full of hairbreadth escapes from the mischances of war, but many of the important engagements of the Civil War are brought in and are accurately as well as picturesquely portrayed. The previous series of Civil War stories "The Young Kentuckians," by the same author, has had a wide sale.

YOUNG KENTUCKIANS SERIES, THE.

By Byron A. Dunn.

General Nelson's Scout. From Atlanta to the Sea. On General Thomas's Staff. Battling for Atlanta. †Raiding with Morgan.

Illustrated. 12mo . . . . . per volume 1.25
The 5 volumes, boxed 6.25

The stories follow the career of a young Kentucky patriot through the Civil War. Each volume bristles with just the kind of excitement every normal boy likes. Incidentally the most important events in the War are brought in, and valuable historic information goes hand in hand with absorbingly interesting narrative. There is no more fascinating series for boys or girls of twelve to sixteen. Over 30,000 copies of the series have been sold. Valuable as supplementary reading for Boy Scouts and kindred organizations.

ZOLLINGER, GULIELMA.

†The Rout of the Foreigner. With 10 illustrations by Fanny M. Chambers. Crown 8vo 1.50

The scene of this story is England in the early part of the reign of Henry III. While the story is a most adventurous and picturesquely told narrative, many of the events, including the siege of the Castle of Bedford, are historical. The words of Edwin Markham regarding the former historical story by Miss Zollinger, "A Boy's Ride," that it should be a joy to young people studying English history, apply in equal measure to this.

†A Boy's Ride With 16 illustrations by Fanny M. Chambers. Crown 8vo 1.50

This is a fine boy's story, laid in England during the time of King John, and presents a stirring picture of life in those mediaeval days.

The same, regular edition. Illustrated. Thirtieth thousand. 12mo 1.25

The same, regular edition. 12mo 1.25

The homely philosophy and irrepressible humor of these stories of Irish life have made them favorites with young people, though they are not without their appeal to the older ones. A prominent educator said of "The Widow O'Callaghan's Boys" that it was "first-class pedagogy," and his reading of the story resulted in a personal recommendation of it to every pupil in his school. Since that time, it has come to be one of the most widely read and talked-of books for boys and girls published during the last decade, and has been put on recommended lists from one end of the country to another.

"The 'useful conversations' are for once really useful, covering as they do all the requirements of the traveler, and having in a third column a guide to the pronunciation of the foreign words used. The guides are concise and adequate; routes and rates are given, and suitable hotels are recommended. The coins of the various countries are illustrated, and their values explained. Telegrams and letters are drafted in the languages, and cycling and motoring terms given; in fact, nothing of consequence is omitted, and nothing of inconsequence is included. The guides are, therefore, of convenient size for the pocket, and no traveler who is wise will hereafter travel without them."—The Bookseller and Stationer.

BULFINCH'S AGE OF FABLE OR BEAUTIES OF MYTHOLOGY. New Revised Edition by Rev. J. Loughran Scott. This new edition, while retaining all the features of previous revisions, has a number of new features which make it superior to those of any other works on Mythology yet published. 524 pages. Nearly 200 illustrations.

LEADING FEATURES, AND OPINIONS CONCERNING THEM.

PRONUNCIATION OF PROPER NAMES.—All proper names are printed in black type, syllabified and accentuated. The editor in his preface says: "To know one you must know his name, especially in Mythology, where names constitute being."

"After years of experience I appreciate the value of the pronunciation of proper names in the body of the text. The time for the study is limited; it is impossible to require incessant use of dictionary. . . . I believe you have done much to secure correct spelling. . . . The illustrations in your edition are a valuable feature.

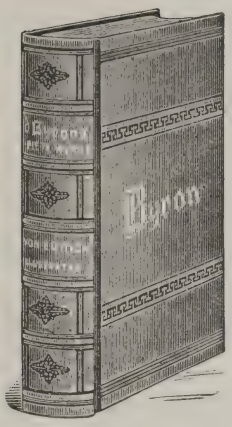
"The recognition of the mythology of Babylon, Assyria, and Phœnicia I consider timely."—Mary L. Hanna, Teacher of English, Central High School, Cleveland, Ohio.

BULFINCH'S AGE OF CHIVALRY, or KING ARTHUR AND HIS KNIGHTS. New Revised Edition by Rev. J. Loughran Scott. This New Edition, uniform with "The Age of Fable," has been thoroughly revised and a number of new chapters added. The numerous illustrations have been prepared with great care and considerable expense. As "The Age of Fable" superseded all former editions of that book, so this edition of "The Age of Chivalry" is far superior to any other work on the subject yet published.

Crown octavo, ... 1 25

"No one can read this edition of 'The Age of Chivalry' without coming in contact with the best literature of the Arthurian Legends. While retaining the old, at the same time we have created a new work. The interest of these legends naturally centers about King Arthur and Queen Guinevere. In the case of Guinevere we have added a new section, and also enlarged the chapter that treats of Arthur and the passing of his kingdom. The names ranking next in interest are those of Launcelot and Elaine; here, too, we have written an additional section. At the close of the first part we have inserted a chapter on Mediæval Legends. St. George and Robin Hood attach to an importance scarcely surpassed by King Arthur himself. We have also drawn directly from Sir Thomas Mallory, especially in connection with the adventures of Sir Tor, Sir Pellenore, Sir Gawain, Sir Launcelot, and Sir Galahad."

"A Third Part with seven additional chapters has been added, consisting largely of the writings of Ossian. Whatever may have been the origin of those strange books, they certainly embody more of the ancient spirit of Britain than any other similar work."



BYRON. Newstead Edition. The Complete Dramatic and Poetical Works of Lord Byron, with an Illustrated Life of the Poet by Professor John Nichols, embodying many Fresh and Interesting Incidents of Byron's Life, and with Notes and References to his Poems and Writings. The Fifth Edition, Revised and Enlarged, with Two Hundred and Seventy-four Illustrations.
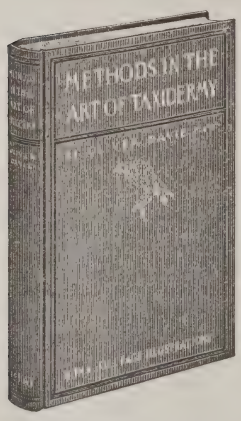
One volume, octavo, cloth, colored edges, ... $2 25

This book has now become the standard work on the subject, and is indispensable to those engaged in the study of Ornithology and Oölogy.

The second A. O. U. Check-List, 1895, is the classification followed, including the new species and subspecies enumerated in the Eighth Supplement.

"I consider it a valuable contribution to ornithological literature. It should be in the hands of every collector."—Thomas G. Gentry, Author of "Nests and Eggs of Birds of the United States."

DAVIE, OLIVER. Methods in the Art of Taxidermy. By Oliver Davie, Author of "Nests and Eggs of North American Birds," etc. 90 Full-page Engravings, Chiefly Drawn by Theo. Jasper, A.M., M.D. The whole containing 500 figures clearly illustrating the modes of procedure in the art, together with examples of characteristic forms and attitudes of various species of the animal kingdom. In one quarto volume, cloth, colored edges, 7½ x 10½ inches. Formerly published at $10.00, . . . 2 50



Minutely illustrating the most practical methods practiced in the art. It teaches in detail, step by step, the Skinning and Stuffing of Birds, Mammals, Crustaceans, Fishes, and Reptiles, together with Illustrations of Forms and Attitudes of the Animal Kingdom. The text is by Oliver Davie, who has made Taxidermy his life study and profession. The originals of the illustrations were made in India ink from time to time, as the actual subjects could be obtained from which to make the various procedures.

"It is the best of its kind, and it is of a kind which I think should be in every school library."—James G. Needham, Johns Hopkins University, Author of "Elementary Lessons in Zoölogy."

"Never before has the Art of Taxidermy had its practical methods and beauties portrayed as we find them interpreted in this work. It is indeed a work of art from cover to cover."—Thomas M. Earl, Author of "Pets of the Household," Columbus, O.

"I have no hesitancy in reiterating in a more emphatic manner than ever what I have been telling the 'boys' all along that it is a GREAT WORK."—Frank H. Lattin, Publisher of "The Oologist," Albion, N. Y.

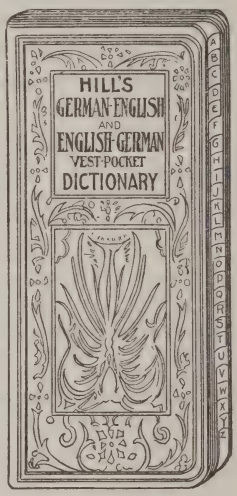
No. 2. Cloth, plain 15
No. 2. Cloth, indexed, ... 20
No. 3. Black imitation leather, indexed, ... 25

Nos. 1 and 3 are printed on the same quality of paper and are indexed. No. 2 is printed on a cheaper grade of paper and is supplied in both plain and indexed styles.

SIX FOREIGN LANGUAGE DICTIONARIES.



French-English and English-French Dictionary, Hill's.
German-English and English-German Dictionary, Hill's.
Italian-English and English-Italian Dictionary, Hill's.
Latin-English and English-Latin Dictionary, Hill's.
Spanish-English and English-Spanish Dictionary, Hill's.
Swedish-English and English-Swedish Dictionary, Hill's.

No expense has been spared in compiling these books. As a result the most complete Foreign Language Dictionaries of handy size have been produced. Not only are they the most convenient for the student, but also the most practical for use of progressive American business men who come in contact with foreign language speaking people. They are the most reliable dictionaries of this style on the market, and each one contains a complete guide to pronunciation, with rules for same. Condensation and usefulness are the chief features of these books. Unusual and self-explanatory terms are left out to make room for more needful words. They are very useful for those desiring to translate either language into the other in the shortest possible time. Each language being separately indexed makes rapid reference possible. Proper accents are given to all words.

Vest-Pocket Compendium of Applied Electricity. By Paul E. Lowe, M.E., written especially for officials and employees of all grades in Electric Railway, Lighting and Industrial Systems. This work is profusely illustrated, containing over 214 illustrations, and is supplemented with a voluminous vocabulary of electrical terms and phrases.

For students of electricity, its origin and nature, and for everybody interested in any one or all of the branches of activity in the modern industries, arts and sciences, where electricity is applied, this comprehensive and conveniently arranged little work is invaluable. Whilst covering the whole field of electrical science, embodying in each subject all the salient and essential features, the author, recognizing the ever increasing importance of the Electric Railway in the development of modern business and social life, has prepared the portion of this volume treating that subject, with greater elaboration than is usual in restricted works, and with far more than ordinary care and scientific precision. In this commercial era of grinding competition, and where only superior fitness for the performance of every duty in life can be relied upon to insure success, the value of constant vigilance, close attention to details, and a determination, by diligent study and application, to master the intricacies of the machinery and apparatus with which the Electric Railway operative is entrusted cannot be too forcibly urged. The fruits of exact knowledge, and the intelligent and earnest application of it, are economical and efficient operation, and by these qualities the valuable employee is distinguished and selected for preferment.

A leading characteristic of the entire work is its thoroughly practical nature and lucid explanation of all principles by means of diagrams of circuits, etc.

Conklin's Vest-pocket Book of Synonyms and Antonyms. By Prof. Geo. W. Conklin, of Hamilton University. In "Synonyms and Antonyms" the index words are distinguished by bold type and arranged alphabetically. Immediately after each index word follow words similar in meaning—synonyms—and thereafter, again, in parentheses, a series of words opposite thereto in meaning—antonyms. A knowledge of words is the most direct possible test of culture and civilization. Increase your vocabulary—it will pay in dollars and cents.

Conklin's Vest-pocket Book of Familiar Quotations. By Prof. Geo. W. Conklin, of Hamilton University. No one can be expected to remember the exact words of the great authors he has read, and indeed no one has time to read over even hastily a tithe of the good things that the ages have accumulated. Hence a little book like this is indispensable. As we turn over its pages we are reminded of many wise and witty sentences we had forgotten, and we discover others we wonder at ourselves for having missed. Such a book is not to be read through at a sitting. Rather it is to be tasted every day or two.

Conklin's Vest-pocket Argument Settler. By Prof. Geo. W. Conklin, of Hamilton University. Revised and brought down to date by Paul E. Lowe, Ph.D. Containing all the latest railroad, electric, army, navy, and other valuable statistics, and covers the whole range of important scientific discovery and development. A complete encyclopedia of facts, statistics, tables and general information. A marvel of condensation; never before has there been published such an immense amount of knowledge in so small a space. The thousands of items of information covered by this book are so varied and extensive that it is almost impossible to find out what it does not contain. An idea of the immense number of facts to be found in Conklin's Argument Settler will be given by the fact that the index to contents embraces over sixteen pages. Five minutes' inspection of this little book invariably determines the examiner that he wants it. Strictly up-to-date.

Faulty Diction—or, Errors in the Use of the English Language, and How to Correct Them. (Vest-Pocket Size.) Thomas H. Russell, LL. B., editor-in-chief of Webster's Imperial Dictionary, did the public a great service when he wrote this book in which there are 1017 headings treated, and under some of them—plurals, for instance—over fifty every-day errors are illustrated and corrected.

Who does not make errors in speech? Probably there is no person who does not do so occasionally. To use the English language with correctness would be a phenomenon. But there are numerous faulty expressions so widely employed as to have secured something of the status of perfect diction. Many people who ought to know better believe them to be proper, and will defend them with promptitude and even passion. There is a large number of common blunders so grotesquely stupid that they raise one's gorge. They are so common that many people think the improper form the correct one.

Hill's Bridge and How to Play It. A New Book by America's Greatest Authority, Frank R. Hill.

This wonderfully complete work of 247 pages stands at the head of Bridge books and contains everything any player could possibly need or wish to know. The text is very full and instructions clear.

"The value of Mr. Hill's new handbook is in its thoroughness and its accuracy. It is really the most serviceable work on Bridge yet issued for players of all ranks."—The Tribune.

It is a remarkably compact as well as thorough treatise, covering more ground and offering more suggestions than much bulkier works on the subject.

To quote from Mr. Hill's Preface: "My endeavor, then, will be to lay before the reader the system which, after years of experience, has proved itself to be the best—that is to say, the system which is most likely to conduce to success. In doing this, I give reasons for and against the different suggestions that are advanced, and spare no effort to make the treatise complete in every branch of the game."

Ogilvie's Concise World's Atlas and Gazetteer. Based Upon the Latest Census Reports and Official Estimates.

By L. Brent Vaughan, Ph.B. The plan on which this Gazetteer is arranged is somewhat different from that usually followed. A word of explanation, however, will suffice to point out the superior method used. In the main the arrangement is alphabetic. Under the leading Political Divisions are grouped the principal facts pertaining to those divisions. For example, under France are included all the departments and the principal cities of the French Republic, with their populations according to the latest census. Likewise all mountain ranges in the world are grouped under Mountain Ranges, the rivers under Rivers, lakes under Lakes, oceans under Oceans, capes under Capes, straits, channels and sounds under Straits. This is the only gazetteer published so arranged.

The Jefferson Bible. By Thomas Jefferson. The third president of the United States, by clipping from the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, compiled a connected narrative, which he entitled, The Life and Morals of Jesus of Nazareth. The compilation begins with the first verse of the second chapter of Luke and ends with the last portion of the sixtieth verse of the twenty-seventh chapter of Matthew. In the compilation he made use of 120 different clippings, changing from one of the Gospels to another, and frequently back again to the same chapter for another verse; in some instances taking a considerable portion of a chapter exactly as it appears in the Bible, in others rearranging the verses as best suited his purpose, and in still others using a few verses or only a small part of a given verse to round out some portion of the narrative.

HALL, BOLTON. The Garden Yard. A Handbook of Intensive Farming. With an Introduction by N. O. Nelson. Revised by Herbert W. Collingwood, President and Editor Rural New Yorker, and Samuel Fraser, Manager Fall Brooks Farm, Geneseo, N. Y. 12mo, cloth. Illustrated, ... 1 00

"The Garden Yard" is specially adapted to show the professional man or the mechanical or clerical commuter, how to utilize such limited roods as he has to educate himself in gardening and at the same time to derive support from his yard.

We have too many farmers' farms, we have enough gentlemen's farms; but we have almost no business men's farms, wage-earners' farms, or professional men's farms. It is to increase the number of these last that Bolton Hall's new book, "The Garden Yard," has been written. It shows how a man with limited time and limited opportunities may make the best use and get the most returns out of a little bit of land used intensively.

"The book is certainly an interesting and useful one. We shall be glad to add it to our library and to recommend it whenever possible.—Farm Journal, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia.
